MILL MAY WILL CLOSE 8 MINES

CAN NOT ARRANGE TO HAVE THEIR ORE TREATED.

DIFFERENT ON GOLDEN CYCLE

OTHER CONCERNS REFUSE TO GIVE AS LOW RATES.

WILL FORCE 500 MEN OUT

Total Daily Production of Companies Affected Is About 544 Tons—Portland Plant Is Running at Full Capacity and Can Take no More.

Eight mines in the Cripple Creek district, employing 500 men and producing between 500 and 600 tons of ore per day, will close down within a few days until the Golden Cycle mill is reopened, according to authentic information received yesterday, owing to the inability of the shippers to secure a contract rate from the smelters of the state or from the United States Reduction and Refining company.

The average value of the ore which the Golden Cycle mill has been treating is between $20 and $25 per ton. The contract rate as given by the Golden Cycle is $6.50 per ton for treatment of this grade ore. The "open" or transient rate is $9 per ton, making a difference of $2.50 per ton. The shippers, all of whom have long-time contracts with the Golden Cycle, are bound by these agreements to resume their relations with the mill as soon as any unavoidable interruption of operations at the plant, such as caused by the recent fire, is obviated. The mill will be rebuilt within 100 days, according to present plans, and the shippers must then again send their ore to the Golden Cycle for treatment, the interrupted period to be added to the length of the contract.

Big Products Included.

The smelters and the United States Reduction and Refining company it is said, will not give the contract rate on these shipments for such a short time, and many of the mines have decided that the best way out of the difficulty is to close down and save their ore until the Golden Cycle plant again resumes operations.

Following is a list of the mines which will probably close within a few days:

Mines.	Men employed.	Daily tonnage
Golden Cycle	150	300
Findley	100	70
Mary McKinney	75	40
School Section	50	60
Henry Adley	40	20
Gold Sovereign	25	30
Trump	40	30
Forest Queen	20	15
Total	500	565

The Golden Cycle mine, which is the heaviest shipper in the district, the Portland alone excepted, has a contract to furnish the Portland mill 30,000 tons of ore for fluxing purposes, and may continue operations at a greatly reduced production for about one month, in order to furnish this amount of ore, but will then close down until the mill is built.

Will Close Down Soon.

The Mary McKinney, which produces ore averaging $33 per ton, would feel the advance more, perhaps, than any of the others, owing to the corresponding increase in treatment rates as the ore increases in value. President F. F. Castello of the Mary McKinney Mining company said yesterday that the mine will probably shut down within a few days.

The lessees of the Stratton estate, who all are now under contract with the Golden Cycle mill, have made arrangements to ship to the Portland mill in West Colorado Springs. The remaining shippers, with an aggregate of about 100 tons, will send their ore to the smelters and to the United States Reduction and Refining company plants.

An unfounded report emanated from Cripple Creek yesterday to the effect that the Portland mill in West Colorado Springs is discriminating against the Golden Cycle plant by refusing to treat ore from any of its shippers. In refutation of this rumor an officer of the Portland Gold Mining company said last night:

Portland Official Talks.

"The Portland mill will take care of the ore shipped by the Stratton lessees, which is part of that under contract to the Golden Cycle mill, but cannot treat any additional shipments for the reason that the extra ore thus coming in will tax the capacity of the mill to its utmost. The Portland plant was built to handle only the product of the Portland mine and our own production. Increased by that from the Stratton mines, will be all that we can handle."

With regard to the condition of affairs at the Golden Cycle mill, General Manager McGilvry said yesterday:

"There are no new developments in the situation. The insurance adjusters, who were expected here today from Denver, have not arrived but will probably be here tomorrow. The loss will probably be estimated within two or three days after their arrival. The loss sustained in the fire is no nearer computation than on the day of the fire, and all I can say is that it will probably be placed in the neighbor-

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 13.—Marianna Gaulers, wife of Joseph Gaulers, a well-known miner of this city, filed suit in the county court today for divorce from her husband, alleging extreme cruelty. The couple were married at Westville, Ill., in May, 1902, and are the parents of a 4-year-old boy. Mrs. Gaulers asks for custody, alimony and the custody of the boy.

RIOTING CONTINUES

BELFAST, Aug. 13. Rioting continued until nearly midnight. The rioters stretched chains across the streets to impede the movements of troops, who charged the mobs from time to time. Numerous soldiers were fired into the mob and official reports state that three were killed, six seriously and hundreds slightly wounded. The police courts sat until midnight hearing charges against the numerous prisoners taken from among the rioters.

Y. M. C. A. HAS FIFTEEN

DODGE RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION.

Advisory Board Outlines Work for Year—Talent Secured for Lecture Course—Sunday Meeting.

At a meeting of the members of the Colorado Springs Young Men's Christian association held in the Y. M. C. A. building Monday night the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Clarence E. Dodge, president; M. C. Gile and M. A. Skinner, vice presidents; D. Alexander Smith, treasurer; W. W. Williamson, recording secretary.

It was also decided to change the association year to correspond with the year of the International Y. M. C. A. committee, which begins April 30, instead of July 1, as formerly recognized by the local Y. M. C. A. The meeting then adjourned and the annual meeting of the advisory board of the association was called.

Membership Will Be Maintained.

The advisory board outlined the work of the association for the next year. The most important matter considered was the maintenance of a membership of at least 1,000. At the present time the membership is about 1,000, but usually a large number allow their names to be dropped from the membership roll at the first of the year. The plan this year will be to divide the city into districts, each of which will be in charge of a committee which will be responsible for any increase or decrease in its representation on the membership roll. A membership campaign will also be carried on some time next year, the date to be determined later. The campaign will not be started for the purpose of raising money, but to increase the interest in the work of the organization.

Prominent Speakers Secured.

The association is planning to conduct six afternoon Sunday meetings in the Opera house and six of the most prominent and well-known men of the country have been secured to deliver the addresses. Todd B. Hall, the famous Baltimore detective and ex-chief of the Baltimore police department, and Lyman B. Sperry of Oberlin, O., will be here some time in November. Secretary of State J. F. Bailey of Lincoln, Neb., and Dean A. C. Peck of Denver, will deliver the addresses in December, and Melvin B. Trotter, the great missionary now living in Grand Rapids, Mich., will be here some time during the first of next year. The sixth speaker has not been selected.

Good Lecture Course.

The speakers and attractions for the star lecture course of eight numbers, commencing in November and ending some time in April, have been secured but the exact dates have not been set. The following lecturers are on the list: Professor Frederick Starr, of Chicago university; George D. Wedding, of Washington, D. C., and Professor J. B. De Motte of Pennsylvania. Among the entertainers secured are Alton B. Packard, the well-known cartoonist and humorist; the Slayton jubilee singers who made a hit when in Colorado Springs last year; the Transcontinental Trio, known as the "Wonderful Trio of Entertainers;" the Dunbar Handbell ringers, who appeared here last year and have been secured for another performance in response to the many requests which have been received by the association members, and the Katherine Ridgway Concert company. Only 1,000 tickets will be sold.

New Religious Work.

The religious department will take up new work beginning September 1. The regular Sunday afternoon meetings for men will be continued and arrangements are being made to conduct two Sunday evening meetings each month in the different churches of the city. The addresses will be delivered by the leaders in the association who will speak on subjects concerning the association and its work in Colorado Springs. Meetings in the Midland,

TELEGRAPHERS KILL BUSINESS

GENERAL STRIKE OF OPERATORS PARALYZES COUNTRY.

15,000 MEN LEAVE THE WIRES

RAILWAY OPERATORS MAY JOIN AT ANY MOMENT.

CANADA HAS 10,000 MEN OUT

Officials of Western Union and Postal Claim Ability to Handle Business, but Strikers Are Confident of Success—All Lines of Business Crippled.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. New York and the whole United States today felt the paralyzing effect of a general strike throughout the country of the operators of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies. The electric instruments spread the strike like lightning. The last messages sent by thousands of operators were the transmissions of orders to quit work. At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon the New York men went out. There are 3,000 Western Union and 2,000 Postal telegraph operators idle in the city today.

Throughout the country 15,000 operators have left the keys. More than a hundred cities and towns are affected, and with one or two exceptions they include all the places in the United States. There remain only 53 offices out, 22 ordered out, and the strike will spread to them at any time.

Both Sides Confident.

While the striking telegraphers claim their strike will be successful, the officials of the Western Union and Postal companies assert they are handling their business readily. And that numbers of men are returning to work. No disorder has been reported.

It was rumored last night that the operators at Canso, N. S., the chief American cable station, would go out today, but the cable department of both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies say they are handling their business without interruption today.

All last night picket lines of the strikers patrolled in front of the building. The telegraph companies had sought to turn back strikebreakers. Their methods were perfectly orderly, and those who were not been the pickets' persuasions proceeded without molestation.

Western Union officials say they had the usual number of operators at work last night. Over 50 of them were housed in the buildings.

No women operators are permitted to work after 9 p. m.

Canadians Go Out.

Ten thousand telegraphers in Canada struck today, and it is stated that on account of some of the railroads handling commercial business, the Order of Railway Telegraphers, 47,000 strong, will strike within a day or so.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—General Secretary Russell of the Telegraphers union today predicted that before night the strike would be general throughout the United States and Canada. He said:

"All members of the national executive board are here excepting President Small, and he has wired his sanction of any step we may take in the direction of calling a strike. An executive board meeting will be held today to consider a general strike. In my opinion, by night the 25,000 operators in the United States and Canada who belong to the union will be called out."

Labor Commissioner Neill, President Gompers and other leaders conferred tonight with the idea of arranging some manner of settling the strike. Commissioner Neill declared there was no immediate indication of a settlement.

Officers of the local telegraphers union assured operators who crowded the local headquarters that if they remained out the companies would be forced to meet their demands. Some operators said the union's funds were insufficient to finance a protracted strike, but that they are depending on aid from allied unions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—President Roosevelt has not intervened in the telegraph strike," said Secretary Loeb today when asked whether Commissioner Neill was proceeding to Chicago to effect a settlement of the telegraph strike at the direction of the president.

Secretary Loeb said the president had not requested Commissioner Neill to take action in the telegraph strike, nor had the labor commissioner communicated his plans to the president, adding that Commissioner Neill had full authority to take whatever action he thought advisable in such matters.

First Vice President Beattie, who is also secretary of local branch No. 24, was called up over the long distance telephone today by General Secretary and Treasurer Wesley Russell, who is directing the strike, and told that the reports that were reaching headquarters were decidedly grave and that President Small had been summoned from the Pacific coast to Chicago.

Mr. Beattie was directed to advise Commissioner Neill that Mr. Russell and the other officials of the union in Chicago desired to get in communication with him at once.

It is surmised that Mr. Russell wants to point out to Commissioner Neill that the government's business is in danger of being interrupted if the strike should progress.

DENVER, Aug. 13.—"We are working practically a full force of men, and we are getting along very well without striking operators. It is untrue that we are sending messages by mail." Statement of Messrs. Black and Leonard, superintendents respectively of the Postal and Western Union.

These statements, however, are contradicted. The only union telegraph operators working in Denver today are those employed on the wires of brokers and buckshop proprietors. These operators received a message from Chicago this morning that all of the lines save two operating these wires had agreed to the scale of wages demanded.

The Associated Press quit operations entirely this morning, not attempting to work nonunion men. Local Manager De Monde said: "Ours is a waiting game. We cannot use nonunion men and our instructions so far are simply to await the outcome of the fight."

The Order of Railway Telegraphers continued today to refuse to handle any messages save those directly relative to the operation of the railroads.

This is the severest blow of all to the two big telegraph companies, for much of their business is handled to and from towns where the only operators are O. R. T. men.

The business save the large towns through which trunk lines run, is usually not sufficient to maintain an additional operator other than the regular railroad telegrapher. He handles both railroad and commercial messages.

Conferences were held last night and this morning between the telegraph and the railroad companies, but the position taken by the western roads, especially the Rio Grande and the Union Pacific was that the telegraph companies must fight their own battles, and if the O. R. T. refused to send commercial messages the railroads would not handle

TAFT IS NOT ALARMED

BIG MAN SMILES AT ROCKEFELLER'S RUIN TALK.

Seems Strange That Disaster Should Come so Suddenly in Most Prosperous Nation in the World

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Secretary of War Taft was at the Hotel Manhattan today. As he was about to leave for Oyster Bay, L. I., to attend a conference of members of the cabinet, his attention was called to the interview with John D. Rockefeller, printed today, in which the oil king predicts all sorts of disaster in the country owing to the policy of President Roosevelt.

"What is your opinion of this subject," he was asked.

Well, Avery, he said, "the prediction of Mr. Rockefeller isn't it? Now you must excuse me from discussing anything which has reference to the administration. You see, I've been in the woods of Canada for the past five weeks and how do you imagine I could keep posted on the flight of events away up there?"

The reporter read some of Mr. Rockefeller's prophecies when Secretary Taft interrupted, saying:

"Don't read any more. I haven't followed the market in years. I must see the president before I can say anything about this Rockefeller crisis.

"I'll say this much, however, it does seem a bit strange that the administration which, up to a very short time ago, when I left for the woods of Canada was holding around the world as the most prosperous in the history of the American republic, should now be on the brink of ruin. Don't it hit you that way?

"But, Mr. Taft, the Standard Oil king has placed you seemingly in the position of not being in sympathy with Mr. Roosevelt's attacks against the trust. He attacks the administration, which in this case means the president, and singles you out as a 'safe and sane man.'

"I can't help what Mr. Rockefeller says. The president and I understand one another. As far as the confidence of the American people in President Roosevelt is concerned, their support of his administration is the best answer. Any action taken by Mr. Roosevelt is not the result of an hour's deliberation. Depend upon that."

MAY BRING CRIMINAL ACTION

Government Likely to Force Harriman to Answer Certain Questions Relating to C. & A.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—United States District Attorney Stimson today filed in the United States circuit court in this city a petition that E. H. Harriman and Otto H. Kuhn, the latter of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb and company, be summoned into court to show cause why they should not answer certain questions relating to the control of the Chicago & Alton railroad. These questions were asked during the interstate commerce commission investigation of the Chicago & Alton several months ago. Mr. Stimson acted for Attorney General Bonaparte in filing the petition.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Attorney General Bonaparte returned today from his vacation at Lenox, Mass. He was unwilling to discuss the reports that he had returned to begin criminal prosecution in the Harriman and Standard Oil cases, but, speaking generally, he said the department stands ready to bring criminal action when there seems a good chance to convict. The taking of testimony in the St. Louis case against the Standard Oil company, for the dissolution of the concern, will begin in New York on September 3.

PREDICTS DISASTER FOR THE UNITED STATES.

ROASTS THE ADMINISTRATION

SAYS GREAT MONEY INTERESTS ARE SUFFERING.

INVESTORS ARE FRIGHTENED

Oil King Contrasts What He Calls the Hit or Miss System of Today With Safe and Sane Policy of Former Administrations.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 13. John D. Rockefeller's answer to President Roosevelt's anti-trust utterances is a prophecy of the financial disaster that will sweep the country from end to end. Mr. Rockefeller had just finished his game of golf. Apparently he had thought over very carefully everything he said. At no time in his interviews did he use the name of President Roosevelt. He also refrained from using the administration.

"What, in your opinion, will be the effect on the country of the present policy of the president toward great business combinations?" Mr. Rockefeller was asked.

"The policy of the present administration," Mr. Rockefeller said, "toward great business combinations of all kinds can have only one result. It means disaster to the country, financial depression and financial chaos."

Laws of Gould—Etc.

"The world already has a full dose of this since the extreme penalty imposed on one corporation, with a limited number of shareholders, has caused a loss of confidence reflected in a falling stock market, a tightening of money and a fear for the future. Newspapers are full of this alarm and reform, a feeling of unrest. They ascribe it to but one thing.

"What will be the effect when similar action is taken against corporations with myriads of stockholders scattered throughout the country, the investors, many of them widows and orphans, whose chief support are dividends on but one answer. The present situation will be intensified many fold. I will go further and say today that because of the administration, with its reports every five minutes of new actions and heavy fines, the country is already beginning to drift towards the rocks of financial depression.

"Confidence is gone, and confidence is the basis of all prosperity. With confidence established there can be no stopping of the wheels of business. Without it all is at a standstill. The investor, great and small, locks up his money and refuses to venture forth.

"I do not need your stock market reports, your editorials, your predictions and forebodings to prove to myself the truth of my words. I have another way of knowing absolutely—a way that has never failed me in the long years of my business career. That is the way I am judging the financial situation from the attitude of the financial world toward myself. Let me illustrate:

As It Once Was.

"There was a time not long ago, before the present runaway, hit-or-miss, impulsive agitation began that I would be called up on the telephone, say by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., say by Mr. Morgan's office, and in terms asked if I wanted to come into a syndicate and if a certain allotment of shares would be given to me, but I was also told that I would have to make immediate arrangement. At one such time, that I needed several days for consideration, the telephone receiver would be hung up, in all likelihood. When I called several days later and said I would go in to the syndicate, I would be curtly informed that I had lost my opportunity—that the syndicate had been completed.

"What is the situation now? I am called and asked to participate in many syndicates, but in none of them is the time for decision fixed upon the instant. Instead of the former attitude I know they are content to await my decision and I know there is no danger that I will be too late.

As It Is Now.

"I can judge in another way. Requests are coming to me today for money from quarters it was least expected would be asking for money some time ago. Today I was offered the unprecedented interest of 7 per cent for $1,000,000 or $2,000,000, or $3,000,000. The security was beyond all criticism. That would be impossible in this country if there was confidence enough to unlock the money vaults of the country.

"I know the railroads of the United States today are unable to borrow money for any length of time. Formerly they could obtain it for eight or ten years in great amounts. They are very well satisfied to take anything they can get now for a short term. Recently I was offered Car Trusts, one of the safest possible investments, at the rate of 5½ per cent, and they were very glad to give that rate, although there is a margin upon the safety side of these loans.

"I judge of the conditions of the country by these things. I have told you and by others that come directly under my notice or under the notice of my personal representatives, my son and others.

"It is really of no great moment to me. I am through with business. Loss

C. & S. STRIKE IS TERMINATED

MEN WILL RETURN TO WORK THIS MORNING.

ARBITRATION IS AGREED ON

STRIKE BREAKERS TO BE ALL DISMISSED BY BOARD.

THE UNION TO BE RECOGNIZED

Strikers Will Return to Duty at Same Rate of Pay as Before Strike Pending Settlement of All Questions by Arbitration Board.

DENVER, Aug. 13.—The strike of the trainmen on the Colorado and Southern railway is ended as the result of a conference this afternoon between P. H. Morrissey, representing the strikers, and officials of the Colorado and Southern and other roads that were interested. All the strikers will resume work at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and all danger of the troubles on the Denver and Rio Grande going out is passed.

According to the agreement arrived at, the men will return to work at the same rate of pay as they were getting when they struck and the settlement of all questions concerning pay for the future will be made by an arbitration board which is to meet in Denver next Tuesday. Whatever schedule of pay is agreed upon by the board will be given to the men dating from tomorrow. The company has agreed to dismiss all the strike breakers brought here since the opening of the struggle and to recognize the union in the future. In all, about 300 men will resume work and industrial conditions will be restored to their normal tranquility in so far as railway transportation is concerned in this state.

Conference Harmonious.

The conference this afternoon was held in the office of the Denver & Rio Grande Railway company, and there were present representatives from the Union Pacific, Burlington, Santa Fe, Colorado Midland and other western roads. Mr. Morrissey conducted the negotiations for the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and a spirit of harmony characterized the gathering. The strikers are to be taken back without prejudice, and this stipulation is taken to mean a vindication for the union men of all blame in connection with the explosion and fire in the railway yards at Boulder. The demand that the strike breakers be dismissed was concurred in readily by the officials of the road as it was recognized by all the railway men present that the strike breakers are not practical railway men, and are accordingly worth little in the actual operations of the road and the movement of trains.

General satisfaction is expressed here tonight over the termination of the strike, as it is recognized to be beneficial to all interests that this state maintain quiet business relations and be given a chance to reap the full benefits of the unprecedented wave of good times now existing. The questions in dispute during the strike were not of a very serious nature, and the chances are that all the demands of the men will be acceded to by the arbitration board under certain conditions as to length of contract and security for the future. The principal victory for the strikers lies in the agreement of the road to recognize the union as the increase in pay demanded was very small and the other matters in dispute were of minor importance.

FOR BETTER HIGHWAYS

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE OUTLINES DEFINITE ACTION.

Concerted Effort Will Be Made to Further Good Roads Movement. Bitulithic Paving Favored.

The Colorado Springs Real Estate exchange took a decided stand in favor of better streets and thoroughfares in and around Colorado Springs, at its regular monthly meeting last night. A motion was unanimously passed inviting the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants association, automobile club, Good Roads association and Driving club to name a committee of three members each to join with a committee from the Real Estate exchange to consider the betterment of the streets and roads. The committee appointed by the Real Estate exchange is L. C. Perkins, Frank Colton and W. W. Williamson. They were appointed by President E. W. Bemis to represent the exchange in the conference.

This committee is instructed in the resolution to offer for consideration by the joint committee the proposal that petitions be circulated among the taxpayers to be presented to the city council asking for a reasonable appropriation for permanent improvement, and also the proposal that the county commissioners be requested to avail themselves of the public highways act passed by the last legislature and to make an increased levy to cover the cost of the highway provided for in this act.

Action Is Significant.

For years the sentiment has been general in Colorado Springs and in El Paso county that the city streets and county roads should be greatly improved. The Good Roads association has persistently made an effort for the betterment of prevailing conditions. The Colorado Springs Automobile club has protested time and again against the dangerous railroad crossings both within and outside the city limits. No definite form of action, however, has been taken before. Each organization has been waiting for the initiative to be taken by the other, and the movement launched by the Real Estate exchange is therefore of deep significance.

The Value of Good Roads.

It is understood that both the city council and the county commissioners are strongly in favor of contributing toward these permanent improvements, but that they have been waiting just such action as is proposed in the resolution passed by the exchange last night. A petition from the taxpayers of the city requesting the council to appropriate a reasonable sum for improvements on the streets of Colorado Springs will justify the council in this action, whereas the aldermen are reluctant to take the steps on their own initiative.

The world-famed climate and scenery of the Pike's Peak region, combined with the natural facilities for good roads, result in unsurpassed advantages for the furtherance of the proposition. Automobiles and carriages swarm over the numerous thoroughfares in and around Colorado Springs, and a general overhauling will eliminate dangerous holes and uneven crossings and result in smooth roadbeds.

High-way Through State.

The public highways act passed by the last legislature provides for the appropriation of $10,000 by the state toward the construction of a thoroughfare which shall be built by county labor. The highway shall run as near as practicable, from Trinidad northward through Walsenburg, Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Denver, Fort Collins, Loveland and Fort Collins. The construction is to be under the supervision of the commissioners of the state penitentiary, and surveys are to be made by the state engineer.

The county commissioners of any county through which the highway passes are authorized to pay their pro rata share out of the road fund, or general fund of that county, on vouchers drawn by said board of commissioners of the penitentiary. The county commissioners shall first secure rights of way for the road. In incorporated cities and towns the municipal authori-

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Stanford White, widow of the architect who, Harry Thaw asserts, took his life, is engaged to marry, according to a rumor firmly believed in their social circle. Her late husband's partner, Charles Follen McKim, is said to be the prospective bridegroom.

The wedding, according to the report, will be solemnized as soon as the second trial of Harry Thaw is concluded and the sensation it caused in the killing of White dies out. The rumor of the engagement has been afloat for weeks—not only in New York city, but in London and Paris, where Mr. McKim and Mrs. White, separately, have been.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when those organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in rounded contours. Nearly a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit forming drugs. Made wholly of those native American medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments.

For nursing mothers, it is a godsend. Run down in health by too frequent bearing of children, a few bottles of this world-famed remedy will prepare the system for the coming of baby and make its advent easy and almost painless. ROCKEFELLER RESIGNS IT throughout the city were at their lowest. Hundreds of people rushed into it foolishly. The demand was greatly oversupplied. Cleveland was getting out of it geographically. We were being shoved off the map. Some thing had to be done.

"There were no refineries to speak of, and those that existed were badly managed. The whole industry on this account was slashed in the extreme. The price of oil was higher than it would have been under stricter conditions. Nine out of ten business men were losing money.

"Our greatest competitor was H. M. Payne. I knew Mr. Payne very well. I had gone to school with him. In our early days we had been close friends. In later days we drifted apart, as competitors do in these days. We spoke as we passed in the street, but that was all. I knew that Mr. Payne was not making money owing to general conditions, and as we were rapidly approaching that time I determined to do something. A decision there must be a mutual arrangement for handling the business.

"I called up Mr. Payne's banker and asked him if it would be possible to get Mr. Payne to meet me at the bank at 3 o'clock that afternoon. The banker assured me he would meet me. I met him, and we went over the situation. We joined our businesses.

"If we agree upon values, will you come in?" I asked him.

He said yes. Then we had our plants appraised by well-known men in Cleveland, and entered upon an agreement. When we had come to this agreement we asked the others to come in with us and we adopted the same policy toward them that we had used toward each other.

"This was the foundation of the Standard Oil company. Did I crush Mr. Payne? Did I browbeat him? It is absurd to say that we used toward the others different methods than we used among ourselves.

Secret of Success.

How has the Standard Oil prospered? What has been the secret of the marvelous cohesive force of the company? Nothing but absolute confidence in each other. Nothing but confidence in the men who directed the policies of the company. It could not have existed had there been any of this browbeating and crushing they speak of.

"Since 1870 we have always pursued the same policy. We have not deviated from it in one instance. We have never browbeaten or crushed anyone. Always people have realized that when can do a certain piece of work better than one, and yet one would think from the present attitude of the people who are leading the public that the system was wrong. This is a great crime.

"Oh, well," and Mr. Rockefeller brushed his hand over his head as if it were a question too idle to discuss. "People see now," he said, "that there is nothing wrong in us. A vast enterprise has been built up by economy and attention to detail. Systematization has brought success out of chaos."

Mr. Rockefeller told of his work in building up the Standard Oil and of his retirement in 1883.

"I have not been in business for 10 years," he said, "but I have been busy all that time. Do I look like a man who is not busy? They accuse me still of being the head of our company, dictating its every policy. Why, this is foolish, is it not? I have no more need for money. Why should I worry? My children are well cared for. I am through with business, but yet they say I am money mad.

Surprised at Administration.

"I have been surprised at the attitude of our administration in its recent acts. What with reports from Mr. Smith, sixty-five minutes' indictments in the courts, attacks from the heads of government departments and what not—one can hardly say just where we are at, so far as commerce and finance go.

"I have no personal feeling in this. As I have said, I have no need for more money. I am speaking now in a general way, just as a matter strikes me, but I was speaking particularly of Mr. Smith's reports. I see he is quoted as stating the Standard Oil has declared enormous dividends. Mr. Smith, it seems, proceeds upon the assumption that the Standard Oil pays dividends upon the capitalization basis of $100,000,000.

"Mr. Smith does not seem to understand that for all of the years since it was founded the Standard Oil company has gone steadily forward, perfecting its plant, acquiring property, developing its resources, until today its assets are many times greater than $100,000,000. Its assets are greater than others companies that are capitalized at many times more than $100,000,000. These companies today pay higher dividends on their total capitalization than the Standard Oil company. Let Mr. Smith look into that."

Bituulithic Record Cited.

The paving committee of the Real Estate exchange reported last night that the bituulithic pavings recently indorsed by the exchange is much better than asphalt, judging from an investigation of the Pueblo streets, and that one-third more weight can be drawn with the same results on bituulithic than on asphalt pavements.

The members of the exchange held their regular monthly banquet in the Alamo hotel at 6:30 o'clock, adjourning later to hold their business session in the office of the Sun Realty company, 24½ North Tejon street.

Following is the resolution with regard to the improvement in the roads which was unanimously adopted:

The Resolution in Full.

It is moved that the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants association, the Good Roads association, the Automobile club and the Driving club of this city be invited to name a committee of three members each to join with a like committee from this exchange in consider the matter of betterment of our city streets and country roads.

Also moved that the committee from this exchange be instructed to offer for consideration by the above joint committee the proposal that petitions be circulated among the taxpayers to be presented to the city council asking for a reasonable appropriations for the maintenance of our city streets and a special appropriation for permanent improvements; that the board of county commissioners be petitioned to avail itself of an act passed by the last legislature and approved April 2, 1907, entitled, "An Act Concerning the Construction of a System of Public Highways in the State of Colorado by Convict Labor and Making an Appropriation Therefor."

Also to petition the said board of county commissioners to make an increased levy to cover the cost of the above.

Look Over Proposed Road.

A number of civil engineers and road experts accompanied County Surveyor W. P. Woodside and the county commissioners yesterday on an investigation of another proposed route for the new automobile road to be constructed from Colorado Springs to Breed, 10 miles north of this city. In the party with Mr. Woodside were W. K. Jewett, E. C. Van Diest, A. E. Sawyer and County Commissioners J. P. Madden, F. L. Rouse and A. J. Banta.

The road, which is declared to be very feasible, runs from this city to the Garden ranch, thence northward over the hills to about a mile and one-half of Breed. The thoroughfare follows the old territorial road for some distance from the Garden ranch.

Automobile enthusiasts have been considering the construction of a road to join the main one to Denver for some time, and the expressed intention of the county commissioners to improve the roads of El Paso county has caused automobilists to seek the co-operation of the county in this matter. Whether the road will be limited to automobiles alone depends on the decision of the commissioners. If the board decides to co-operate with the Automobile club, the road will be thrown open for general traffic; otherwise it will be for the use of automobiles alone.

MITTEN FOR FLIRTING BARON

Mrs. Russell Is Jealous of German Adonis and Breaks the Engagement in Temper.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Marcus Denison Russell, the wealthy and beautiful New York widow, whose engagement to Baron Christian Von Metz of the German army was recently announced and whose wedding was scheduled for the near future, has broken the engagement.

The exact cause is not known, but it appears that since the engagement became a fact, some weeks ago, there has been more or less friction between the two, and this culminated in a violent quarrel in the cafe of the Waldorf-Astoria.

Mrs. Russell left the hotel greatly agitated, and soon after it became known among her friends that the engagement was at an end. This was confirmed by Mrs. Russell herself. No explanation for the breaking of the engagement is given, but it is expected that the baron, while a devoted lover and all that sort of thing, is a natural born gallant, and that his attentions to a certain young woman well known in social circles is the cause of the trouble.

TOURISTS IN SNOW STORM

Sun-Baked Southerners Will Henceforth Do Effective Boosting for Cool Colorado.

While people all over the country were sweltering in the heat, with sunstroke prostrations reported hourly, eastern tourists stopping at Manitou suffered with the cold while going up Pike's Peak on burros Monday night, and fought their way through a severe blizzard and snow storm. The party left Manitou at 7 o'clock Monday afternoon and encountered the blizzard at Windy Point. They managed to reach the summit about 1 o'clock yesterday morning, and 15 of their number returned to Manitou in a special Cog road train which was sent up for them three hours later. The remaining five members of the party made the descent on burros.

"We wanted to be shown, despite the fact that we are not from Missouri," said one chattering, woebegone tourist. "They said that it snowed on Pike's Peak in summer and we think we believe it. We certainly were shown."

It appears that the principal trouble lay in the fact that most of the party, acting from previous experience in other parts of the country in summer, took along large chunks of ice which they placed on the burros back of the saddles. Armed with fans and clad in the lightest summer clothing, despite the urgent warnings of their guides, the unwary travelers left Manitou in the hope that the night would not be too hot for comfort. It wasn't.

One man from Texas took along an electric fan, which he intended to connect with the electric wires at the summit. For a time he was the most popular one in the party, barring a youth from Mississippi, who claimed to have the biggest piece of ice of all, but when Windy Point was reached a howling blizzard attacked the erstwhile heat-crazed tourists, and things happened.

The tourists then started to throw away the ice which they had brought to keep them cool, but finding that it was warm in comparison with the other things about them, proceeded to put it to good use. The members of the party are positive that several of their number would have perished but for the warmth received in hugging the ice.

By crowding together the party struggled to the summit house on top of the Peak where food and shelter were obtained.

IOWANS HAVE BIG PICNIC

More Than 300 People Enjoy Feast at Stratton Park.

More than 300 members of the Hawkeye Centennial association and their friends that gathered at Stratton park yesterday afternoon and evening and enjoyed the annual picnic and reunion of former residents of Iowa, who live in this city and visitors from that state. Much credit for the success of this picnic is due to the committees under the direction of the following chairmen: J. R. Wiley, finance; W. R. Armstrong, entertainment; Mrs. R. H. Patterson, advertising and printing, and George E. Swan, arrangements.

In the afternoon speeches were made and the praises of old Iowa were sung to the fullest. Great enthusiasm and patriotism for the old home state was shown by each of the speakers.

The feature of the picnic was the basket dinner served at 6:30 o'clock last evening. Well-filled baskets were brought and the dinner spread on one great table beneath the trees. After supper the picnickers heard the concert given by the Midland band. The new officers for the association will not be chosen until next May.

Some men don't even have to be dead to be forgotten.

PARADE DURING BIG REUNION

City Will Decorate Lavishly Next Week in Honor of General Palmer and His Regiment.

For the first time since the quarter-centennial five years ago, General William J. Palmer will appear in public next week during the annual reunion in that city of the survivors of his old regiment, the Fifteenth Pennsylvania cavalry. It is planned to have the general lead his old comrades in a short procession through the business section of Colorado Springs on Wednesday afternoon, August 21, the day after their arrival here. Residents are planning to decorate their homes, and business houses with bunting and flags from top to bottom on that day.

A dual significance is embodied in the idea of decorating the town with patriotic colors. The reunion of old soldiers of the Union is in itself an occasion for festivity and display of patriotic colors, and when it is considered that the central figure of the reunion is the founder of the city of Colorado Springs, and one of those generous acts, much of the prosperity of the town is directly due it is especially fitting in the opinion of the promoters of the parade for Colorado Springs to show its appreciation in some marked manner.

It is proposed to have General Palmer lead the procession in his automobile. The survivors of the old Fifteenth, escorted by Colorado Springs post, No. 22, G. A. R., which will be headed by Post Commander E. H. Hurd, will assemble in front of the Antlers hotel at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. They will probably march directly east on Pike's Peak avenue to Nevada avenue, thence to Platte and south on Cascade to the Antlers hotel, where carriages will be taken to Glen Eyrie, General Palmer's country estate.

GREEN IS IN TROUBLE

Denver Detective in Suit Which Was Colo[illegible] Lud.

An aftermath of the arrest of A. W. Jackson, colored, in this city several months ago, for the theft of diamonds and other valuables from Denver residents, is contained in the suit filed by Mrs. Fannie E. Leyner against Detective W. H. Green, of Denver, in a district court of that city.

Mrs. Leyner demands damages of $1,000 against Green and requests that he be confined in the county jail for one year if he refuses to pay the judgment. She claims that Green, to whom former Chief of Police Alex Adams of this city turned over a valuable diamond which Jackson admitted stealing from her "switched" gems and gave her a much inferior stone, in place of her property.

Chief Adams, who secured the diamond from Jackson, later saw the stone which Green had given Mrs. Leyner, and said that it was not the one which he had turned over to the Denver detective.

DENVER WINS POLO CONTEST

Visitors Defeat Country Club's Second Team—Finals for Trophy Scheduled for Tomorrow.

The Denver Freebooters, the senior team of the Denver Country club, defeated the second team of the Cheyenne Mountain Country club at Broadmoor yesterday, in the second polo game of the series for the Foxhall Keene cup, outclassing the locals to the tune of 12 goals to 5. The second team of this city is not nearly so well organized or drilled as the regular Cheyenne team, and proved easy prey for the Denverites. The regular Cheyenne Mountain Country club team will meet the Denver Freebooters tomorrow in the finals for the trophy, and much interest is manifested in the result.

There are so many polo players among the Country club members that three teams have been organized. They are the regular, the second and the junior teams. The juniors will play the Denver juniors in a practice game today.

Following is the lineup of yesterday's game:

Denver—Stevens, 1; Wells, 2; Keene, 3; Hughes, back.

Colorado Springs—Farwell, 1; Tilpin, 2; Harrison, 3; Baldwin, back.

In today's game the Denverites will be represented by Berrian and Lafayette Hughes, Phipps and Symes. The Colorado Springs players will probably be Gardiner, Lockhart, Bittler and Hayes.

A dance was given by the Cheyenne Mountain Country club at the club house at Broadmoor in honor of the visitors last night. Among the Denver guests, in addition to the players, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis and Irwin Tears.

THE NEW YORK DOCTORS
Again Treat Chronic Sufferers Free
Offer Is Good Until Saturday Night.

Last month the New York Doctors inserted an advertisement in the paper saying they would treat all chronic sufferers free of charge (medicines excepted) for three months. A great many Colorado Springs people availed themselves of this offer and are now under successful treatment. On account of the great pressure brought to bear on them they have again decided to GIVE FREE TREATMENT (medicines excepted) to all who call this week. This offer does not apply only on a trial treatment of a week or a month, but for a full course of treatment for three months if necessary.

THE NEW YORK DOCTORS ARE HERE TO STAY or they would not make this offer. Each case is taken with the distinct understanding that they will tell their friends of their progress. Only curable cases will be taken and the EXAMINATION IS FREE.

WE NEVER DISAPPOINT OUR PATIENTS nor make a promise we cannot fulfill. The fear that you cannot be cured may have deterred you from taking honest treatment, or maybe you have been one of the unfortunates who have been treated in vain by inexperienced physicians or your family doctor, who, though he might be ever so good at the bedside, never cured a chronic disease in his life. Perhaps you have tried patent medicines, electric belts and similar devices until you are a confirmed skeptic. Such a course cannot and never will cure you.

THE NEW YORK DOCTORS are a staff of physicians who have spent years in general practice; have taken many post graduate courses as their diplomas will prove, and have given up their practice to treat chronic diseases. They are specialists for the various diseases they treat. They have prepared themselves for this work and have spent years in the preparation. In their offices will be found every appliance known to science for curing diseases and relieving suffering.

NO CHANGE—The situation in this city with respect to the strike of the Western Union and Postal telegraph companies remains unchanged. ROCKEFELLER PESSIMISTIC throughout the state were at their lowest. Business in [illegible] into it foolishly. The demand was greatly overstimulated. Cleveland was getting out of it geographically. We were being shoved off the map, something had to be done.

"There were 60 to 70 refineries in the state and those that existed were badly managed. The whole industry on this account was dished in the extreme. The price of oil was higher than it would have been under stricter conditions. Nine out of ten business men were losing money.

"Our greatest competitor was H. H. Payne. I knew Mr. Payne very well. I had gone to school with him. In our early days we had been close friends. In later days we drifted apart, as competitors do in these days. We spoke as we passed in the street, but that was all. I knew that Mr. Payne was not making money owing to general conditions, and as we were rapidly approaching that same stage I determined to correct [illegible] there must be a mutual arrangement for handling the business.

"I called up Mr. Payne's banker and asked him if it would be possible to get Mr. Payne to meet me at the bank at 3 o'clock that afternoon. The banker assured me he would meet me. I met him, and we went over the situation. We joined our businesses.

"'If we agree upon values, will you come in?' I asked him.

"He said yes. Then we had our plants appraised by well-known men in Cleveland, and on that upon an agreement. When we had come to an agreement we asked the others to come in with us and we adopted the same policy toward them that we had used toward each other.

"This was the foundation of the Standard Oil company. Did I crush Mr. Payne? Did I browbeat him? It is absurd to say that we used toward the others different methods than we used among ourselves.

Secret of Success.

"How has the Standard Oil prospered? What has been the secret of the marvelous cohesive force of the company? Nothing but absolute confidence in each other. Nothing but confidence in the men who directed the policies of the company. It could not have existed had there been any of this browbeating and clubbing they speak of.

"Since 1870 we have always pursued the same policy. We have not deviated from it in one instance. We have never browbeaten or crushed anyone. Always people have realized that [illegible] can do a certain piece of work better than one, and yet one would think from the present attitude of the people who are leading the public that the system was wrong. This is a great crime.

"Oh, well," and Mr. Rockefeller brushed his hand over his head as if it was a question too idle to discuss. "People see now," he said, "that there is nothing wrong in us. A vast enterprise has been built up by economy and attention to detail. Systematization has brought success out of chaos."

Mr. Rockefeller told of his work in building up the Standard Oil and of his retirement in 1897.

"I have not been in business for 10 years," he said, "but I have been busy all that time. Do I look like a man who is not busy? They accuse me still of being the head of our company, directing its every policy. Why, this is foolish, is it not? I have no more need for money. Why should I worry? My children are well cared for. I am through with business, but yet they say I am money mad.

Surprised at Administration.

"I have been surprised at the attitude of our administration in its recent acts. What with reports from Mr. Smith at five minutes' intervals in the courts, attacks from the heads of government departments and what not, one can hardly say just where we are as far as commerce and finance go.

"I have no personal interest in this, as I have said. I have no need for more money. I am speaking now in a general way, just as a matter strikes me, but I was speaking particularly of Mr. Smith's reports. I see he is quoted as stating the Standard Oil has declared enormous dividends. Mr. Smith, it seems, proceeds upon the assumption that the Standard Oil pays dividends upon the capitalization basis of $100,000,000.

"Mr. Smith does not seem to understand that for all of the years since it was founded the Standard Oil company has gone steadily forward, perfecting its [illegible], acquiring property, developing its resources, until today its assets are many times greater than $100,000,000. Its assets are greater than others companies that are capitalized at [illegible] times more than $100,000,000. These companies today pay higher dividends on their total capitalization than the Standard Oil company. Let Mr. Smith look into that."

LUTHERANS NOW THIRD.

The Lutheran church has had a remarkable growth in membership in the last 35 years. In 1850 there were 225,000 communicants. In 1905 1,850,309 members were recorded. This body is now third numerically among the Protestant bodies.

Bituthic Recommended.

The paving committee of the Real Estate exchange reported last night that the bituthic paving recently injected by the exchange is much better than asphalt. Recent examination of the Pueblo streets and that one-third more weight can be drawn with the same results on bituthic than on asphalt pavement.

The members of the exchange held their regular monthly banquet in the Alamo hotel at 6:30 o'clock and then adjourned later to hold their business session in the office of the Sun Realty company, 23½ North Tejon street.

Following is the resolution with regard to the improvement in the roads which was unanimously adopted:

The Resolution in Full

It is moved that the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants association, the Good Roads association, the Automobile club and the Driving club of this city be invited to name a committee of three members each to join with a like committee from this exchange to consider the matter of better [illegible] of our city streets and county roads.

Also moved that the committee from this exchange be instructed to offer for consideration by the above [illegible] to consider the proposal that petitions be circulated among the taxpayers to be presented to the city council, asking for a reasonable appropriations for the maintenance of our city streets and a special appropriation for permanent improvements, that the board of county commissioners be petitioned to avail itself of an act passed by the last legislature and approved April 9, 1907, entitled, 'An Act Concerning the Construction of a System of Public Highways in the State of Colorado, by Convict Labor and Making an Appropriation Therefor.'

Also to petition the said board of county commissioners to make an increased levy to cover the cost of the above.

Look Over Proposed Road.

A number of civil engineers and road experts accompanied County Surveyor W. P. Woodside and the county commissioners yesterday on an investigation of another proposed route for the new automobile road to be constructed from Colorado Springs to Breed, 10 miles north of this city. In the party with Mr. Woodside were W. K. Jewett, E. C. Van Diest, A. F. Sawyer and County Commissioners J. F. Madden, F. L. Rouse and A. J. Banta.

The road, which is declared to be very feasible, runs from this city to the Garden ranch, thence northward over the hills to about a mile and one-half of Breed. The thoroughfare follows the old territorial road for some distance from the Garden ranch.

Automobile enthusiasts have been considering the construction of a road to join the main one to Denver for some time, and the expressed intention of the county commissioners to improve the roads of El Paso county has caused automobilists to seek the co-operation of the county in this matter. Whether the road will be limited to automobiles alone depends on the decision of the commissioners. If the board decides to co-operate with the Automobile club, the road will be thrown open for general traffic, otherwise it will be for the use of automobiles alone.

MILLION FOR FLIRTING BARON

Mrs. Russell Is Jealous of German Adonis and Breaks the Engagement in Tempe.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Marcus Dennison Russell, the wealthy and beautiful New York widow, whose engagement to Baron Christian Von Holtz of the German army was recently announced, and whose wedding was scheduled for the near future, has broken the engagement.

The exact cause is not known, but it appears that since the engagement became a fact, some weeks ago, there has been more or less friction between the two, and this culminated in a violent quarrel in the cafe of the Waldorf-Astoria.

Mrs. Russell left the hotel greatly agitated and soon after it became known among her friends that the engagement was at an end. This was confirmed by Mrs. Russell herself. No explanation for the breaking of the engagement is given, but it is expected that the baron, while a devoted lover and all that sort of thing, is a natural born gallant, and that his attentions to a certain young woman well known in social circles is the cause of the trouble.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how—at a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change—ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in rare womanly beauty. Nearly a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit forming drugs. Made wholly of those native American medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of women's peculiar ailments.

For nursing mothers, or those run down in health by too frequent bearing of children, as a tonic to give strength to prepare the system for the coming of baby and making its advent easy and almost pain[illegible] is unequaled and not so good as Favorite Prescription. It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine, nicely adapted to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treatment of women's peculiar ailments.

TOURISTS IN SNOW STORM

Sun-Baked Southerners Will Henceforth Do Effective Boosting for Cool Colorado.

While people all over the country were sweltering in the heat, with sunstroke prostrations reported hourly, eastern tourists stopping at Manitou suffered with the cold while going up Pike's Peak on burros Monday night and fought their way through a severe blizzard and snow storm. The party left Manitou at 7 o'clock Monday afternoon and encountered the blizzard at Windy Point. They managed to reach the summit about 1 o'clock yesterday morning and 15 of their number returned to Manitou in a special log road train which was set up for them three hours later. The remaining five members of the party made the descent on burros.

"We wanted to be shown, despite the fact that we are not from Missouri," said one chattering woebegone tourist. They said that it snowed on Pike's Peak sometimes and we almost believe it."

It appears that the principal trouble may be the fact that most of the party, aside from previous experience in other parts of the country in summer, took along in the valley in which they placed on the burro back of the saddle. Armed with fans and all set in the lightest summer clothing, despite the urgent warnings of their guides, the unwary travelers left Manitou in the hope that the night would not be too hot for comfort. It wasn't.

One man from Texas took along an electric fan, which he intended to connect with the light wires at the summit. For a time he was the most popular one in the party, barring a youth from Mississippi, who claimed to have the nicest piece of ice of all. But when Windy Point was reached a howling blizzard attacked the exhausted, heat-racked tourists, and things happened.

The tourists then started to throw away the ice which they had brought to keep them cool, but finding that it was warm in comparison with the other things about them proceeded to put it to good use. The members of the party are positive that several of their number would have perished but for the warmth received in hugging the ice.

By crowding together the party struggled to the summit house on top of the Peak, where food and shelter were obtained.

IOWANS HAVE BIG PICNIC

More Than 300 People Enjoy Feast at Stratton Park.

More than 300 members of the Hawkeye Centennial association and their friends thronged at Stratton park yesterday afternoon and evening and enjoyed the annual picnic and reunion of former residents of Iowa, who live in this city and visitors from that state. Much credit for the success of this picnic is due to the committees under the direction of the following chairmen: J. R. Wiley, finance; W. R. Armstrong, entertainment; Mrs. R. H. Patterson, advertising and printing, and George E. Swan, arrangements.

In the afternoon sports for children and the praises of old Iowa were sung to the fullest. Great enthusiasm and patriotism for the old home state was shown by each of the speakers.

The feature of the picnic was the basket dinner served at 6:30 o'clock last evening. Well-filled baskets were brought and the dinner spread on one great table beneath the trees. After supper the picnickers heard the concert given by the Midland band. The new officers for the association will not be chosen until next May.

Some men don't even have to be dead to be forgotten.

PARADE DURING BIG REUNION

City Will Decorate Lavishly Next Week in Honor of General Palmer and His Regiment.

For the first time since the quarter centennial five years ago General William J. Palmer will appear in public next week during the annual reunion in this city of the survivors of his old regiment, the Fifteenth Pennsylvania cavalry. It is planned to have the general lead his old comrades in a short procession through the business section of Colorado Springs on Wednesday afternoon, August 21, the day after their arrival here. Residents are planning to decorate their homes and business houses with bunting and flags from top to bottom on that day.

A fact significance is embodied in the idea of decorating the town with patriotic colors. The reunion of old soldiers of the Union is in itself an occasion for festivity and display of patriotic colors, and when it is considered that the entertainers of the regiment is the home town of the founder of the city of Colorado Springs, and the chief of its generous acts much of the grandeur of the town is directly due it is especially fitting in the opinion of the promoters of the affair that Colorado Springs do some appreciation in some real land manner.

It is proposed to have General Palmer lead the procession in his automobile. The survivors of the old Fifteenth, escorted by Colorado Springs post No. 22, G. A. R., which will be headed by Post Commander E. H. Burk, will assemble in front of the Antlers hotel at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. They will probably march directly east on Pike's Peak avenue to Nevada avenue, thence to Platte and south on Cascade to the Antlers hotel, where carriages will be taken to Glen Eyrie, General Palmer's country estate.

THE NEW YORK DOCTORS

Again Treat Chronic Sufferers Free

Offer Is Good Until Saturday Night.

Last month the New York Doctors inserted an advertisement in the paper saying they would treat all chronic sufferers free of charge (medicines excepted) for three months. A great many Colorado Springs people availed themselves of this offer and are now under successful treatment. On account of the great pressure brought to bear on them they have again decided to GIVE FREE TREATMENT (medicines excepted) to all who call this week. This offer does not apply only on a trial treatment of a week or a month, but for a full course of treatment for three months if necessary.

THE NEW YORK DOCTORS ARE HERE TO STAY or they would not make this offer. Each case is taken with the distinct understanding that they will tell their friends of their progress. Only curable cases will be taken and the EXAMINATION IS FREE.

WE NEVER DISAPPOINT OUR PATIENTS nor make a promise we cannot fulfill. The fear that you cannot be cured may have deterred you from taking honest treatment, or maybe you have been one of the unfortunates who have been treated in vain by inexperienced physicians or your family doctor who, though he might be ever so good at the bedside, never cured a chronic disease in his life. Perhaps you have tried patent medicines, electric belts and similar devices until you are a confirmed skeptic. Such a course cannot and never will cure you.

THE NEW YORK DOCTORS are a staff of physicians who have spent years in general practice, have taken many post graduate courses as their diplomas will prove and have specialized for years in the various diseases they treat. They have prepared the drugs for this work and have spent years in the preparation. In their offices will be found every appliance known to science for curing diseases and relieving suffering.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects while the cause undermines the system.

What To Do.

GREEN IS IN TROUBLE

Denver Detective in Suit which Has Cost Him Dear to Lose.

An aftermath of the arrest of A. W. Jackson, colored, in this city several months ago, for the theft of diamonds and other valuables from Denver residents, is contained in the suit filed by Mrs. Pauline E. Leyner against Detective W. R. Green, of Denver, in a district court of that city.

Mrs. Leyner demands damages of $1,000 against Green and requests that he be confined in the county jail for one year if he refuses to pay the judgment. She claims that Green, to whom former Chief of Police Alex Adams of this city turned over a valuable diamond which Jackson admitted stealing from her "switched" gems and gave her a much inferior stone in place of her property.

Chief Adams, who secured the diamond from Jackson, later saw the stone which Green had given Mrs. Leyner, and said that it was not the one which he had turned over to the Denver detective.

DENVER WINS POLO CONTEST

Visitors Defeat Country Club's Second Team—Finals for Trophy Scheduled for Tomorrow.

The Denver "Freebooters," the senior team of the Denver Country club, defeated the second team of the Cheyenne Mountain Country club at Broadmoor yesterday, in the second polo game of the series for the Foxhall Keene cup, by playing the goal to the tune of 12 goals to 6. The second team of this city is not nearly so well organized or skilled as the regular Cheyenne team, and proved easy prey for the Denverites. The regular Cheyenne Mountain Country club team will meet the Denver "Freebooters" tomorrow in the finals for the trophy, and much interest is manifested in the result.

There are so many polo players among the Country club members that three teams have been organized, they are the regular, the second and the junior teams. The juniors will play the Denver juniors in a practice game today.

Following is the line-up of yesterday's game:

Denver—Stevens 1, Wells 2, Keene, 3, Hughes, back.

Colorado Springs—Farwell, 1; Gilpin, 2; Harrison, 3; Baldwin, back.

In today's game the Denverites will be represented by Berrien and Lafayette Hughes, Phipps and Symes. The Colorado Springs players will probably be Gardner, Lockhart, Butler and Hayes.

A dance was given by the Cheyenne Mountain Country club at the club house at Broadmoor in honor of the visitors last night. Among the Denver guests, in addition to the players, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis and Irwin Tears.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

It is an encouraging sign when such public-spirited organizations as the Chamber of Commerce, Real Estate Exchange, Merchants Association, Good Roads Association, Automobile Club and Driving Club put themselves squarely behind a movement to improve the city streets and county roads. The need for some such concerted effort has existed for a long time, for both in the city and outside of it the highways are in a condition anything but satisfactory. Our gravel soil possesses several distinct advantages, the principal one being its excellent drainage and freedom from dust, but if proper methods are used and a reasonable amount of money spent fairly good county roads can be built with it, but in the city alone the cause is hopeless as all efforts to try to make good streets out of nothing but the natural soil.

But Colorado Springs has always been free from the cost of paving with asphalt, brick, creosote, granite or other similar material has always been too great to be even considered. Everybody has realized that the work ought to be done, but the item of expense is the inevitable stumbling block. However, a beginning must be made some time and the Real Estate Exchange believing that it might as well be now as some time in the future, has taken the initiative in bringing the matter up for the consideration of the taxpayers.

At a meeting of the organization last night a resolution was adopted which involves two distinct propositions. The chief organizations named in the beginning of this article are invited to join in the meeting of the appointment of a committee "to consider the matter of the betterment of our city streets and county roads." This committee is then to determine the advisability of circulating petitions asking the Council for a reasonable appropriation for the maintenance of our city streets and a special appropriation for permanent improvements, and the other asking the County Commissioners to take advantage of the law passed by the last Legislature which authorizes the use of convict labor for the construction of a system of public highways. The Commissioners would be asked to make an increased levy to cover the cost of the improvement.

MUCH WORK TO BE DONE WITH LITTLE MONEY

The present street appropriation is barely enough to provide for such work as is already being done, that is the occasional resurfacing of parts of the principal streets with gravel, and at rare intervals the building of a few concrete street or alley crossings. The amount of permanent work done is necessarily very small, and as it is work of this kind that really counts it is important that some provision be made for increasing it. Of course this means additional appropriations, and the Council is very properly reluctant to undertake the responsibility unless it is made plain that there is an actual demand for such action on the part of the taxpayers. Hence the resolution above referred to.

The act of the legislature under which the improvement of certain county roads is contemplated provides for the building of a highway from the southern border of the state through Trinidad, Walsenburg, Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Denver, Longmont, Loveland and Fort Collins. It would connect at the New Mexico line with the highway known as the Camino Real, a splendid paved road built several years ago through the northern part of the territory. The new law provides that the Colorado road is to be built by convict labor, under the direction of the State Engineer who is to establish the grades and lay out the route. An assistant to the engineer is to be employed at $5 a day to superintend the work, and his salary, as well as the cost of bridge material is to be paid by the counties through which the road passes. Thus it is seen that the actual cost of the road to the counties will be very small.

Under this law El Paso County can secure the construction of a splendid north and south highway which will eventually form a part of the road running the entire width of the state.

THE DRAINAGE TUNNEL.

THE assumption of active charge of the Cripple Creek drainage tunnel by William Bainbridge, superintendent of the El Paso mine, may almost be taken as a guarantee that the work will be carried forward without any more unnecessary delays and that it will be managed in a thoroughly business-like manner. Besides being an unusually capable mining man Mr. Bainbridge is the father of the present tunnel project, and it is largely due to his efforts that an agreement of the mine owners was formed by which the tunnel was made possible.

The Cripple Creek District steadily maintains its position as the foremost mining camp in the state, and though several new strikes of great value have been made recently its further extensive development must await the completion of the drainage tunnel. Millions of dollars of new wealth is lying in the lower depths of the mines but it can not be touched until the water problem is solved, so it is of the utmost importance that the bore be driven as speedily as possible. Unfortunately there has been considerable delay since the beginning of actual work on the tunnel, but now that the contract has been let to the El Paso company, with Mr. Bainbridge in active charge, it is safe to assume that the work will hereafter be conducted more satisfactorily.

If Judge Jarvis decides to run for President he may as well understand in the beginning that Vindicator Day positively will not appear on that date.

VARDAMAN "CRUDE DEMAGOGUE."

From the Providence Journal.

Vardaman is a crude demagogue, a long-haired spellbinder, whose chief stock in trade is his violent hatred of the negro race and his demand that the fifteenth amendment shall be repealed. Williams, on the contrary, is a man of quiet and scholarly tastes, a party leader at Washington and an orator of genuine forcefulness.

THE LATE SAINT.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

To William Thompson, who died on Saturday, was one of the world's benefactors. He saved a multitude of lives and introduced improved methods of army hospital service that have been copied by all nations; yet he had not the fame of a third-class general. The world still thinks much less of those who save lives than of those who destroy them.

THE PEARSE WEDGE.

From the Baltimore American.

While Mr. Bryan says that he is dreaming in as many states as he is able as a wedge, Mr. Hearst is planning to split open the Democratic party along the lines of natural cleavage where possible, or through explosive breaks where these abound. That party has gone through so many seismic turmoils that it is little more than a volcanic wreck, and the ambitious candidate for first honors should not meet with serious difficulties in reducing a number or state organizations to the factional condition that seems to delight the unterrified.

CHINA AWAKENING.

From the New York Tribune.

The hope of China lies in the fact that it is awakening in its strength, but in the dawning manifestations of reform and progress which are there to be discerned. The opium reform, the extension of the imperial maritime customs service to all the frontier, the building of railroads, the reform of the educational and civil service systems all point to an awakening in China, not perhaps like that in Japan, but at least, auspicious of a healthful influence upon the future of the empire.

THE KAISER AND THE CZAR.

From the Washington Star.

The kaiser and the czar have had their confab, and have parted. It may not have been the most important of meetings, but it was full of suggestiveness. A pictorial on the sea, the one ruler had the pick of his fighting craft with him and maneuvered them in fine style. A beggar on the sea, the other ruler could but look on and admire. "Cheer up, old man," the knight in substance said to the czar. "You will have something afloat again a little later, and I wish you good luck of it." And undoubtedly Russia will try to provide herself with a new navy, and maybe it will be the harbor for the impression the czar must have received from this observation of Germany's sea power. The old one certainly was a poor one, and the officers and men were as deficient as the ships.

PROGRESS AT THE HAGUE.

From the New York Tribune.

Fear that the conference at The Hague might prove to be a do-nothing assembly was never very reasonably founded, and now there is not the slightest excuse for it. Those fervent souls who think the only proper function of the conference is to ordain that there shall be no more soldiers and no more war will doubtless be disappointed. But the vast majority of rational observers, including those who have complained that it was paying more attention to war than to peace, must be convinced that the conference has already, through its discussions, accomplished much practical good, and that it is now making encouraging progress toward beneficent enactments, not only for mitigating the horrors of war, but also for averting the occurrence of war.

WHY NEW YORK CITY IS WICKED.

From the New York Tribune.

There is one big chief offender in the present city government at whom the ever ready finger of scorn can be pointed. Men higher up surely exist, but it is idle to fancy that such corrupt politicians can be to blame for all the things that make some men weep and drive others to frenzy. The appalling reign of lawlessness whose close is not yet in sight has been brought on by a vast number of relatively slight imperfections and obstructions in our system of local government. A thousand grains of sand have worked their way into the bearings of the municipal machinery. The courts are overcrowded, and this forces judges and magistrates to race through the dockets, releasing prisoners whenever the evidence against them is not too strong to be lightly ignored and compromising in many serious cases in order to secure a certain mild sentence instead of an uncertain, severe one. The jails are inadequate, hence swarms of petty offenders and some bigger rascals are let off with fines or suspended sentences. The juries, too, are absurdly lax in convicting defendants, and in some kinds of cases, such as offenses against the concealed weapon law, they regularly return a verdict of acquittal. The police department is undermanned, its patrolmen are not thoroughly trained in the ways of fighting crooks and preserving order, and discipline is broken down here and there by cheap politics and graft.

THE WORLD'S DEBT TO FULTON.

From the New York Tribune.

Hardly a century has elapsed since the Clermont left New York on its historic voyage up the Hudson, according to some authorities, though some writers have fixed upon August 4, 1807, as the date, and others on August 11 and August 17, with perhaps the weight of probability in favor of the last named day. Whatever the exact time of the trial, this season is appropriate for recalling the work of Fulton. He had devoted his inventive talent to several other problems before he took up those the solution of which gave him his greatest fame. Other men had in a measure anticipated him, and with profitable results. While he was yet in Paris the screw had been employed by John Stevens, of Hoboken, to propel a pleasure boat. Fitch in this country and Miller in Scotland had tried paddle wheels before him. His presence of mind, his courage, might have been inadequate to a dual invention but for the friendship and practical aid of Robert Livingston. Nevertheless, it was Fulton's perseverance and ingenuity which first convinced the world that steam navigation was not only practicable but likely to become commercially promising.

There was a rather close parallel between the applications of Watt's splendid mechanical conception to transportation on land and on water. The means employed in both cases were crude and the solution gradual. The systematic carrying of freight and passengers by rail dates from 1825, but locomotives were previously used to haul coal cars near the mines. Indeed, it was principally for its value to the owners of collieries that Stephenson's predecessors sought to adapt the locomotive to the task of pulling a load. Even then a long series of improvements, the most important of which were proposed by Stephenson, was needed to enable it to execute its function. So, too, a good deal of groping was requisite to the discovery of the most valuable methods of propelling boats by steam. Before the paddle wheel or screw was adopted the [illegible] but eventually that plan was found, though feasible, to be exceedingly wasteful of power.

The amazing consequences of Fulton's achievement can not have been even dimly foreseen. The expansion of domestic and foreign commerce, the extension and the ease of travel, the tides of emigration and the prosperity of maritime nations which have followed his demonstration of August, 1807, must have infinitely surpassed the dreams of the builder of the Clermont or of his most enthusiastic friends. The development of the steamship and of the machinery for propelling it has come by slow degrees. No increase in size or efficiency was [illegible] had been recognized, and even then invention did [illegible] as requirements. More again, however, the history of material civilization shows, nevertheless, that the achievements of man are never perfect when they are first put in his hands. As for the steam engine, no one can say how much further its evolution will yet go.

CRIME WAVES.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The outbreak of crime against women and children in New York city presents an unusually serious aspect of criminology, unless the reports exaggerate the situation. In charging the grand jury this week Judge Foster declared that the court statistics do not support the assertion that a wave of crime is sweeping over the city. There are now pending 849 indictments in the county of New York, and there are comparatively few cases awaiting the action of the grand jury. In the past there have been periods when three or four thousand indictments were pending. [illegible] of the children's court, is quoted as saying that there are no more attacks upon children now than there have been every year. "The truth of the matter is that such crimes as these have always been committed. It appears, however, from the daily reports that there is a criminal who preys upon women and children is in evidence in the metropolis to an alarming extent and extraordinary police measures are required to meet the emergency.

The periodicity of criminal phenomena has attracted the attention of criminologists. Numerous crimes of a similar character are reported as occurring at about the same time. The modern facilities for reporting such occurrences are furnishing material for a closer scientific investigation [illegible] of crimes committed [illegible] are reported in the public press within a day or two after their commission, there seems to be an epidemic of crime, and the impression may be created that the world has suddenly grown worse. Then there is a subsidence in this species of news, and later perhaps another revival of crime.

In Brahm's "Scientific Study of the Criminal" it is noted that spasmodic outbreaks occur among criminals universally and consecutive [illegible] is so regularly attendant upon criminal manifestations that the author observes: "The power of suggestion is well known and epidemics of crime under the inspiration of example are well ascertained phenomena. "One or [illegible] suicides of prominent persons, a perpetrated in a peculiar manner, an atrocious murder or violation may lead to fulsome emulation to the verge of mania." Such nerve storms, the writer says, are [illegible] among the defective classes in asylums and in prison experiences. An authority is quoted who thinks that extremes of weather cause a corresponding increase or diminution of violent assaults and homicides. Another authority also finds that the weather has an effect upon the neurotic and emotional classes, making them more sensitive to changes than ordinary persons, and "more quarrelsome in the spring." The force of suggestion may be felt even by the normal man, but he has the power of resistance which the degenerate does not possess. From all this it is gathered that there is such a thing as a crime wave.

EDITOR HEARS ANEW STORY.

From the Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

Forty-six years ago yesterday two Atchison men, Jim and Dan Ayres, were boys living near Dudley Springs, Va. Their father started them off in the morning to attend Sunday school. After they had walked awhile they heard a noise over across a great woods. Jim Ayres was the older, and he finally said he was going over there, as the noise was very unusual and he didn't know what it was. Dan said they had better go on to Sunday school, adding that their father whipped hard. But Jim wanted to know what the unusual noise was, so he started to find out, and Dan finally followed him. They walked and walked, the noise becoming louder all the time and along in the afternoon they walked into the battle of Bull Run. And when they returned that night their father was so much interested in hearing them talk that he forgot to whip them.

TROOPS FOR MOROCCO

SPAIN MAKES HASTE TO PREVENT OUTBREAK.

Hundreds of Fanatics Roused to Pitch of Fury Eager to Hate on Holy War.

MADRID, Aug. 13. The dispatch of troops and ships to Morocco is being hurried by the Spanish government. In official circles it is said that Spain will leave to France the pacification of the west coast of Morocco, while the Spanish troops will be assigned to the Riff region, to take care of Raisuli and his troops as well as the Moorish pretender at the gates of Melilla and Tetuan. Advices received in Madrid state that [illegible] at the boundaries of Casa Blanca has reached Fez and that the greatest excitement prevails. There are fears of an outbreak.

PARIS, Aug. 13. Dispatches from various points in Morocco received in Tangier report the situation as alarming. The tribesmen are gathering in large numbers, having been worked up to a pitch of fury by the preaching of a holy war by fanatics. Two hundred and fifty refugees arrived by steamer at Tangier left today from Mazagan. The steamer left yesterday, and at the time of her sailing an outbreak was expected at any moment. The closed gates of the city were surrounded by wild tribesmen from the interior, who threatened to burn and loot the town unless supplied with more gold.

The French warship Admiral Aube is at anchor off the town, and the commander of the vessel has given fair warning that if the natives start an outbreak he will at once bombard the outskirts of the town, where the tribesmen are gathered in large force.

Europeans Alarmed.

The Europeans in the town are greatly alarmed and all who can [illegible] do so are leaving the city by every available steamer. Steamers from Casa Blanca arriving at Tangier bring reports of attacks made upon the troops of Caid el Dilale, who thus far repulsed every advance made by the bloodthirsty tribesmen. General Dilale is fighting against odds and with great bravery. He is reported to have said that he is unable to quell the natives with his present force within the last few days the Moors have been joined by thousands of tribesmen from the interior, giving them a force that can almost pen the foreign soldiers into Casa Blanca.

There is great danger of the city falling, but soldiers cannot be spared to go to other threatened towns. Tangier is still [illegible] and seven [illegible] are camped in the hills near by.

Thursday night and early Friday morning the tribesmen made several attempts to force an entrance into Casa Blanca. They came on with a wild dash, but when they faced the guns of the warships they suddenly wheeled around and disappeared. Many horsemen were killed. Much praise is given the French troops for their bravery, while all admire the courage of the tribesmen.

Hundreds of dead are still in the streets of the town and the danger of an epidemic is becoming greater every day.

HARRIMAN IS IMMUNE

CHICAGO AND ALTON SECURE FROM PROSECUTION.

The Return for Evidence Against Standard Oil the Railway King Was Promised Protection.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. The Chicago & Alton and E. H. Harriman are immune from federal prosecution for rebates directed to be brought by Judge J. K. Landis, in his prosecution of the case involving the $29,240,000 fine upon the Standard Oil company.

In directing the Chicago district attorney to place the evidence against the Alton before a special grand jury Judge Landis acted without knowledge of a deal made by the department of justice with the Alton.

Judge Landis, of course, placed the prosecuting branch of the federal service in an embarrassing position.

Former District Attorney Morrison of Chicago now employed by the government as special counsel in the St. Louis case against the Standard Oil [illegible] the rebating suits in Chicago which resulted in the big fine. In order to get from the Alton evidence he considered necessary, Mr. Morrison, with the approval of former Attorney General Moody, now associate justice of the supreme court, guaranteed the Alton corporation and its officials immunity from prosecution upon any evidence used against the Standard Oil company. Acting upon this advice, the Alton furnished the government with its most valuable evidence at the trial of the Standard Oil company at Chicago.

When Judge Landis ordered that the Alton be brought to bar the latter's counsel called attention to the promise of immunity.

Attorney General Bonaparte has looked into the facts and found that the promise was made in good faith. The promise of immunity is regarded by the government officials as unfortunate, as it prevents an opportunity of going after Harriman. However the action is absolute as to this phase of Mr. Harriman's activity.

Mr. Bonaparte says that positively criminal action will be brought either against Harriman or Standard Oil officials. It is very clear, however, that Mr. Bonaparte is not considering both these steps.

IF.

If all the skies were sunshine,
Our faces would be fain
To feel once more upon them
The cooling splash of rain.

If all the world were music,
Our hearts would often long
For one sweet strain of silence
To break the endless song.

If life were always merry,
Our sons would seek relief
And rest from weary laughter
In some brief hour of grief.

DEATH WARNED PASTOR

FRIENDS BELIEVE DR. CRANE SAW SPECTER'S APPROACH.

Selected His Own Pallbearers, Hymns to Be Sung at Funeral and Preacher to Conduct Service.

The late Dr. Charles A. Crane, for[illegible] of this city, and for the six years preceding his death pastor of the People's Temple, the largest Methodist church in Boston, had a premonition that his end was near, according to his friends. The Rev. Mr. Crane died in Boston, August 2.

His friends say his approaching dissolution was practically foretold by Dr. Crane several months ago, although at the time he was in perfect health, apparently, and in the best of spirits.

At the annual conference of the M. E. church, last April, Dr. Crane called his friend Dr. G. S. Butters aside and asked him to prepare his memoirs and compile some of his writings.

Dr. Butters was at first inclined to treat the request in the nature of a joke, but when he saw his friend was in earnest he asked, still jokingly, when he should have them ready. Dr. Crane replied, "In time for the next conference."

Again, last June, as the two [illegible] one evening Dr. Butters bade his friend "good night" but in reply Dr. Crane said: "Not good night, but good morning in a brighter land," repeating the phrase three times.

On Sunday, July 28, the last time Dr. Crane appeared in the pulpit he took for his text the words, "I am going home," and dilated upon the fact that, being the son of a Methodist minister, and having followed in his father's footsteps, he never had had a settled home, but had lived from place to place all his life.

He emphasized the fact strongly that his earthly homes were of little account [illegible] which he was going, and his further talk on the subject and his bearing at this stage of his discourse thrilled the audience with the [illegible] that there was all but prophesying.

In the light of later events taken in connection with the facts above stated, there are many who believe that Dr. Crane was fully aware that death was approaching, and the fact that he selected his own pallbearers, one of the hymns to be sung at his funeral, and the preacher who was to deliver the funeral address, does not in the least detract from this belief.

The Rev. Dr. Crane was pastor of the First Methodist church in this city from 1884 to 1887, when the structure was located on the present site of the city hall building.

TO BUILD BIG PACKING PLANT

S. & S. Company of Chicago to Establish Branch in Colorado

In Near Future.

The famous independent packing company, Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, of Chicago, is to establish a branch plant in this state, and will vigorously fight the big beef trust.

General Western Representative Partridge, representing the big firm, [illegible] is now [illegible] known packers & commission company, was in Colorado Springs yesterday on his way to Denver, where he is to join F. Sulzberger, vice president and general manager of the company, who is now in Colorado for the purpose of selecting a site for the proposed plant. The branch will either be located in Denver or Pueblo.

The Schwarzschild & Sulzberger company is not only the largest independent packing concern in the world but it is the largest shipper of meat to Europe of any packing company, not excepting the largest of those in the beef trust, which the S. & S. company fights vigorously. Indeed, the main reason for its establishing a branch in this section of the country is to obtain a place sufficiently near the Pacific coast to enable it to get favorable freight rates in the Pacific coast and thus to supply this great section of the country and also the oriental trade at the lowest possible cost.

The company's plant at Chicago, which is the model from which its Colorado plant will be planned, is stupendous in its magnitude, covering more [illegible] acres, just outside the Union stockyards, and having facilities for the killing of 125 cattle, 300 sheep and 600 hogs per hour. The company also has immense plants in New York and Kansas City, and when its western establishment is completed, its facilities will be at least equal, if not superior to, those of any other concern in the trade, and it will be able to wage still more effective warfare against the beef trust than it has done hitherto.

Noteworthy features about all of this concern's plants are the successful efforts it has made to keep its product clean and wholesome, and probably no other concern has spent so much money or adopted so many sanitary devices to insure the attainment of this end as has the S. & S. company, with the result that in all the hubbub that was raised some time ago on account of unsanitary conditions, this concern was a conspicuous exception. When the Colorado branch of the big S. & S. company is established the citizens of the state will not only get meat cheaper and better than now, but will know that their own food supply, as well as that prepared for world consumption, will be of the best grade and put forth under the most approved conditions.

WATERMELON ON TIME

When the Summer days are heavy with the sun's unending heat,
When the rustic lad makes footprints of his bare and sunburned feet
In the inch of dust like flour, down the shaded country road,
When the sky's a splendid setting for an earthy[illegible] ode,
When the leaves are hung like lacework from the listless limbs and boughs,
And like pendulums in motion go the tails of grazing cows;
When the youngster risks his garments at a stealthy crawl and climb,
Underneath a barbed wire fence, I know it's watermelon time.

When the fields are ripe for harvest and from green are turning gold,
When the cornstalks, tall and yellow, stand like sentinels of old,
When the scarecrows, empty garments hang quite still the livelong day
And have not a flopping sleeve or once to scare the birds away;
When the rustic leaves the beaten path and by the rail fence goes
To gaze in where they lie so thick on rows and rows and rows;
With eyes alight and watering mouth and lagging steps, he then
I know that watermelon time has come around again.

When the nights are long in coming and the golden harvest moon
For the predators yourn'er times is rising quite too soon;
When the building's deep-mouthed growling wakes the husband from his sleep,
And suspicious shadows flicker where the melon vines may creep;
When the pattering of footfalls sounds upon the dusty road,
And a breathless lad goes bearing off a round and striped load;
When piratical excursions are discussed all through the day,
Then I know that watermelon time is not so far away.

When at night, begowned, bedlippered, Mother searches for the drought
That shall cure the hasty colic and with splendid handicraft
Mixes up a soothing potion that shall quiet Jim or Jack,
[illegible] from his swollen front to back;
When, awakened from his slumber in the middle of the night,
Mother's youngster begs for medicine and loudly cries for light,
When hot-water bags are carried up the stairs, 'tis then that I'm [illegible] watermelon time.

OVER THE HILLS AND FAR AWAY

Since those we love and those we hate
With all things mean and all things great,
Pass in a desperate disarray
Over the hills and far away,

It must be clear that late or soon,
Out of the ken of the watching moon,
We shall abscond with Yesterday
Over the hills and far away.

What does it matter? As I deem,
We shall but follow as brave a dream
As ever smiles a wanton May
Over the hills and far away.

We shall remember, and in pride,
Fare forth fulfilled and satisfied
Into the land of Ever and Aye
Over the hills and far away.

CREDITORS WANT VAN HORN

Erstwhile Proprietor of Palms Restaurant Skips Out Leaving Many Unpaid Bills.

When A. G. Van Horn, erstwhile proprietor of the Palms restaurant No. 19 South Cascade avenue, suddenly disappeared from this city sometime Sunday night he did so without making provision to remunerate the dozen or more employes who had served him faithfully in the capacity of cooks, waitresses, etc., during the rush of the last two weeks. His absence left unpaid for rent, groceries, meat, etc., which have been pouring in for collection to Manager Sands since Van Horn's departure also bear evidence of the extent to which he neglected his creditors.

So numerous were the tradesmen to whom Van Horn was indebted that a meeting of them was called, a committee appointed, and it was decided to continue the restaurant business in order to reimburse the creditors for at least a portion of the money they contributed in the way of supplies to the departed proprietor.

Van Horn came to Colorado Springs from Oklahoma over a year ago, and for some time he was employed in restaurants in the city as a cook. Several months ago he started the Palms restaurant.

MUST SHED ELK TEETH

MEMBERS OF B. P. O. E. CAN NOT WEAR INSIGNIA.

Ban Put Upon Favorite Badge by Grand Lodge for One Year to Protect Noble Animal.

The elk's tooth, or the buck elk so dearly prized and proudly worn by thousands of members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of America, as an emblem of that fraternity, has received its death blow for such a purpose from the grand lodge of that order.

The grand lodge, at its recent session in Philadelphia, passed a resolution condemning the practice of wearing the elk's tooth as an insignia of the great fraternal organization, and appointed a committee to obtain all possible data as to the extent to which the antlered beast of the forest is being slaughtered for the purpose of obtaining the precious teeth to adorn watch charms, etc., and likewise to insist upon the establishment of laws to protect the animal wherever found.

Prior to the last grand lodge meeting President Roosevelt addressed a letter to Grand Exalted Ruler Henry A. Melvin, of Oakland, Cal., expressing his disapproval of the custom of wearing the elk's tooth by the members of the fraternity, and in a rather pointed way called the claims to the Elks of the country for the rapid disappearance of the animal over which the order is named.

"The elk's tooth never has been and is not now the emblem of the order of Elks," said Past Exalted Ruler B. L. Holland, of Colorado Springs, lodge No. 309, who has just returned from the meeting of the grand lodge, of which body he is also an officer. "The custom of wearing the tooth came from the fact that jewelers in all parts of the country have mounted them in charms and offered them for sale. As they grew in favor they also became scarce and consequently more valuable.

"Originally they were obtained from Indians, who supplied them from their headgear and blankets and disposed of them for the sake of the money they brought. Many were also obtained from graves of Indians. Later sideshow collectors bought them from pot hunters who, knowing their value, did not hesitate to slay the animal wherever found.

"President Roosevelt was wrong when he inferred that the order was responsible for this wanton killing of elks. In fact, for several years the grand lodge has published every year in the Elks' Magazine, which goes to every state in the union where elk abound, to protect the animal to the fullest extent. Petitions have been sent to legislatures asking that stringent laws be passed making it an offense punishable by fine or imprisonment to slay the elk out of the season. In the state of Wyoming, where the principal complaints seem to come from, the grand officers have endeavored to have such a law passed. Their efforts have never been unsuccessful, due largely, no doubt, to the fact that the state derives something like $50,000 annually from licenses issued to hunters.

"If it is within the power of the order of Elks to stop the killing of the noble animal from which the fraternity takes its name, it will be done. But this, however, is no departure from the policy already adopted and pursued."

The elk's tooth has grown in popularity so rapidly and consequently has become so scarce that imitations are now made so cleverly that it requires an expert to detect them. These are made of celluloid and bone. At the grand lodge meeting in Philadelphia, while the question was under discussion, an expert made an investigation of 27 specimens in the store of a leading jeweler and found but two genuine teeth among the lot. The imitations were so clever that even the jeweler himself believed them genuine.

Most of the genuine elks' teeth now offered for sale come from Montana, Wyoming and Manitoba. They range in [illegible] and are offered for sale by jewelers for sums all the way from $10 to $1,000.

EL PASO TAKES CHARGE

Will Begin Work of Driving the Drainage Tunnel Today.

The El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining company which secured the contract for the construction of the Cripple Creek drainage tunnel, will take charge today, when the tunnel committee will cease operations on company account and turn over the machinery to the El Paso people.

William Bainbridge, who will have direct charge of the construction work, has had many years' experience in tunnel building, as well as in the management of Cripple Creek mines, and is probably the best-informed man in the state with regard to the texture of the granite formation. He drove the El Paso tunnel a distance of one mile in seven months. Mr. Bainbridge is entitled to much credit for his work in developing both the Elkton and El Paso mines. He was manager of the former property at the time it developed into such a bonanza, and also made a big producer out of the El Paso property, of which he is superintendent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The second trial of Harry Thaw for the murder of Stanford White is unlikely to take place until the January term of court. While Jerome will make no public statement, it was learned that he would probably be unable to move for the second trial until January.

EFFECTS OF NARCOTICS

Subject Recommended for Study by State Superintendent of Schools.

The effects of narcotics is one of the subjects particularly recommended by the state superintendent of public instruction, Miss Katherine L. Craig, in a course of study intended for all grades of the schools of the state, on which she has been working for several weeks.

The system devised by Miss Craig embodies a set course for every grade, from kindergarten to high school, and it is believed it will be of much value to all schools that adopt it. The work just completed by Miss Craig is the result of the repeated requests of a number of educators throughout the state, who have long felt the need of an improved curriculum.

Miss Craif recommends that supplementary reading be made compulsory throughout the grades. She also suggests that there be much more attention paid to drawing, music, nature study and physical training.

The courses formulated by Miss Craig will be published in pamphlet form and ready for distribution by September 1.

"HER MAD MARRIAGE" THE PLAY AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The Fringle Stock company playing at the Opera house this week are drawing large houses. Their plays are giving great satisfaction, and the vaudeville turns between the acts are a strong feature of the show. This evening, also tomorrow at the matinee and evening performances, they will present a strong comedy drama, entitled "Her Mad Marriage." Tomorrow afternoon the company will give another "Pink Tea Matinee," entertaining the ladies and children on the stage after the performance. Little Dale Mitchmah, a Colorado Springs child is appearing with the company this week and is certainly a remarkable child for his age. On Saturday evening Miss Pringle will give away another beautiful diamond ring. The play Friday night and Saturday matinee will be "The Little Detective." Saturday night the company will close their engagement, presenting "The Lighthouse Robbery."

Manitou News

AFTER A CARNEGIE LIBRARY

Manitou Citizens Will Ask Steel Magnate for Building Costing $20,000.

A campaign has been launched in Manitou to petition Andrew Carnegie to give $15,000 for a library building and the town board will be asked to donate the lot for the building.

The Rev. B. W. Bonell, pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, is one of the leaders in the movement. The library board is composed of 10 women representing all the churches of the city. Those on the board are Mrs. C. A. Pollen, Mrs. H. H. Grafton, Mrs. B. W. Bonell, Mrs. C. Lewis Smith, Mrs. William Lennon, Mrs. W. E. Smiley, Mrs. Jerome B. Wheeler, Mrs. E. E. Nichols, Mrs. William Brockhurst and Miss Mattie Ferrier. The campaign is supported by the members of all the churches and is not confined to those of the Episcopal church, as was at first supposed.

The movement is an outgrowth of St. Andrew's public reading room which was started by the Rev. Bonell and the library board last year. At the time the reading room was started it was planned to have a free circulating library for the use of the citizens of Manitou and tourists. The room was not kept open during the winter. However, during the last few months the library has become so popular that it has been suggested that it be kept open all winter.

It is understood that the city council will be asked to donate a lot for the building providing the money for a suitable library can be secured. The Manitou public park on Manitou avenue has been suggested as the best place for the library since the grounds are in fine condition and it is centrally located.

Several hundred books have been given to the movement during the last few months and many more will be purchased within the next year. The treasury is in good condition and more money is being received each week. A meeting will be called in a few days when the library question will be thoroughly discussed.

MANITOU NEWS NOTES.

The members of St. Agnes guild of St. Andrew's Episcopal church are planning to repeat the popular comedy, "The Dress Rehearsal," in a few weeks. The play was given about a year ago and was well received by the people.

The lawn fete at the home of Mrs. Jerome B. Wheeler, Monday night, for the benefit of St. Andrew's library, was a very successful one, the sum of $75 being raised. The grounds were decorated with Japanese lanterns. The refreshments were served at small tables under huge Japanese umbrellas from which hung lanterns, making a very artistic effect.

David McDonald, accompanied by his sister, Mary, and John W. Tarkington, left yesterday for Salt Lake City, where McDonald will be married to Miss Virginia Steel. The young people have been at the Navajo for the last week and have made many friends. They will return to Manitou Sunday, and later go to their home in Helena, Ark.

In less than two months the Manitou Journal has changed hands three times, the last change being made yesterday, when J. C. Sevitz purchased the interest of J. W. Fisher. Fisher and Sevitz bought the paper from Miss Lisle Harris about two months ago.

The regular weekly hop at the Cliff House will be held tomorrow evening.

The LAND OF THE SIKHS

Close View by an American of an Interesting Race—Famous Golden Temple Structure of White Marble With Gilded Interior—The Pool of Immortality Endless Procession of Pilgrims Who Come to Test the Efficacy of the Sacred Waters.

Charles M. Pepper in the Washington Star.

IN the unrest that pervades the natives of India and the occasional evidences that the Hindus and the Mohammedans of the north may sink their animosities and join together in political agitation disagreeable to the British officials, inquiry is made about the hitherto always loyal Sikhs. The Sikhs are Hindus, but they are distinguished from the pantheists and the idolatrous worshipers of innumerable gods by their monotheism, which is as distinct and sharply defined as the Mohammedan faith in the one God.

Physically, too, they are different from the great mass of the Hindus. They are the finest men in India and are the pride of the British officers who command in the native army. They were with the relief column at Peking and they today form part of the Shanghai police corps.

The Sikhs are a militant, warlike race, and since the defeat of the Khalsa or native Sikh army by the English in the '40s, the loyalty which was attested by their fidelity in the Sepoy mutiny has not been doubted. Because of their splendid physical qualities and their natural military instincts they have been the mainstay of the British rule in northern India. If the unrest is pervading them the situation undoubtedly will become a serious one for the government, though it may be some years before the manifestations are apparent.

An Interesting Race.

But it is on their distinctive religious side and their maintenance of their distinguishing characteristics that the Sikhs become so interesting among the race masses and the multitudinous religions which compose India. They are best seen and known at Amritsar, where the Golden Temple and the Pool of Immortality are situated. There are really several golden temples among the shrines at Amritsar, and also one at Tantaran, 15 miles distant, which also has its pool of immortality, but by the Golden Temple is always understood the one known as Hari Mandir.

I learned something of the Sikhs during a fortnight's stay at Amritsar. It was at the famous annual fair of northern India, when the mules, horses and camels are marketed and all classes of the population mingle. This fair itself is very interesting, but its counterpart may be seen elsewhere in India and its only novelty is that it draws in many of the Sikhs from the outlying country. I divided my spare time in the company of British officers between the fair and the temple. The buying of camels and mules was business for the officers, and the Sikhs and their chance suggestion of an intention to visit it always insured companionship. This companionship was not only agreeable personally, but was instructive, because the officers spoke the language of the Sikhs.

The Temple Disappointing.

Visitors who come to Amritsar wonder-seeing from the Taj Mahal at Agra, "The Palace of Tombs" and literally the most beautiful tomb in the world, and from the ancient Mogul capital of Delhi, with its mosques and other magnificent memorials, are said to be disappointed at the comparative smallness of the Golden Temple. I happened to visit Amritsar first and therefore was not disappointed except at the bad taste which had caused a Gothic clock-tower, very beautiful in itself, to be placed in juxtaposition to the holy edifice.

With the congressional library in Washington as a basis of comparison I was able to judge the relative effects of gilt gorgeousness. Unlike the library the Golden Temple is not limited to a gilded dome or to gilded interior decorations. It is of white marble, the entire exterior of beaten copper and the roof covered with a thin layer of gold leaf. It stands in the middle of a large tank or pool. A marble causeway leads to it and a marble pavement borders the tank. At the entrance of the causeway are ivory doors 400 years old, while the entrance to the temple itself is through silver doors. There are no golden stairs, but the inlay work and the mosaics of the interior are really fine, notwithstanding that censorious art critics find fault with them. The marble mosaics are mostly blue and white. On the walls, both without and within, are the figures of birds, fishes and flowers, while the pavement entrance is also figured.

A Fascinating Spectacle.

But the human spectacle is the one of never-ending fascination. A dozen times or more I went to watch the pilgrims and devotees moving in endless procession along the marble causeway or bathing in the Pool of Immortality. Some of the Fakirs or wandering priests with their scant loin cloths, their bodies smeared with ashes and their hair matted and braided, usually were to be found among the throng. Yet the Sikhs, while tolerant to their Hindu brethren of polytheistic beliefs, did not seem to care for the presence of the Fakirs.

The view any day was a symphony of dazzling hues, for like all the natives of India the Sikhs are intensely fond of vivid contrasts in colors—brilliant yellow, magenta and purple predominating in their garments.

All visitors to the temple are required to remove their shoes and put mosques. On my first visit the devotees seemed to take little notice of me, but in some way I found myself trailing along after an attendant. He piloted me into the temple by a side door. The goats are separated from the sheep, that is, the non-Hindus are kept from falling in with the procession of devotees who enter through the main door.

Before the Altar.

Elderly priests were sitting in a group before a silk-covered, rose and flower-laden silver altar or table under a golden canopy. The "choir" was beating on a startling variety of drums and other instruments the universal tum-tum, without which the orient would not be the orient, and chanting the sacred hymns. The votaries, male and female, would drop their floral offerings and their cash contributions, the latter being silver coins and shells. Of course, the visitor tossed several rupees and secured a friendly recognition from the priests.

Under the embroidered canopy on the table was the Grauth or Sikh Bible. The original is said to be kept locked in a repository of the temple, but there are various copies, and one of these is brought in at 3 o'clock in the morning and is guarded by relays of priests until 11 o'clock at night, when it is returned to its place. So it may be said that there are only four hours out of the 24 in which the Golden Temple is closed to the worshipers.

Feast of the Lights.

The best opportunity for seeing the Sikhs at their shrine was afforded me on the occasion of the Diwali or Feast of the Lights. This is a Hindu national celebration, but it is especially a Sikh festival. In the daytime there were surging crowds with little that was distinguishable in the mass of color. At night were the illuminations and fireworks. Myriads of small cup-shaped lamps filled with sweet oil were placed along the balconies and roofs of the buildings surrounding the temple, and when the wicks were lit the effect, while that of subdued brilliancy, was very fine.

The living picture as viewed from the Gothic tower platform was of the massed Sikhs sitting on the marble pavement around the lakes or packing the roofs. The towers and caves of all esques and other fretwork designs. These arabesques, intertwined along the marble causeway, gave a beautiful effect of yellow light, while the burnished side of the Golden temple was brought out subdued and clear without glitter. The reflection of lights in the Pool of Immortality was exquisite. The fireworks were ordinary.

I had been told that the day following the Feast of the Lights was really the best occasion for seeing the Sikhs. The throng was very dense and the pool at times appeared as a solid mass of bathers. Partially secluded inclosures are provided for the women, but there was much promiscuous bathing with considerably less immodesty than may be attributed to a religious rather than a sanitary observance.

A Noisy Celebration.

A terrific beating of the tum-tums attracted my attention. A group of votaries in brown surtouts and tall helmets were gathered round a priest who was haranguing them. This was part of the celebration.

Along the bank of the pool were scores of petty dealers selling baubles, bangles, symbols and various emblems of the faith. I watched the steady march of the pilgrims along the marble causeway till they reached the temple door and prostrated themselves before entering. Among them was a group of high-class Sikh women in loose white overblouses, the trousers gracefully wound in loose folds from the hips to the ankles. They were noticeable for their finely chiseled features and their moderation in nose rings and earrings, as compared with most Hindu women, who are loaded down with these adornments. In the sea of turbaned Sikh men white predominated, but where the sexes mingled there was a Maypole maze of flashing color—orange and saffron, yellow, red, crimson, pink, violet, blue and purple. There was much tinsel trimming and flimsy dotted cottonees, but also many fine silks and satins.

Beggars were stationed all along the line, yet they were not obtrusive. There were many blind votaries with their staffs, some with guides and some making their way alone, and to the latter helping hands always were stretched out.

Vanity of Man.

When within the temple I noticed a number of panel-looking glasses, and it was somewhat humorous to see the magnificently proportioned Sikhs pausing before them and stroking their splendid beards with the satisfaction that a woman shows over an Easter bonnet, when the mirror tells a flattering tale.

But what about the creed of the Sikhs? They form a religious brotherhood numbering more than 2,000,000, and when aroused a fierce fanaticism impels them.

The formal features of the creed can be learned from books written by inquirers and students of religions, but I doubt whether any European really has got to the depths of their faith. My frequent visits to the temple and the regularity with which I tossed my tribute of rupees on the altar, made me a welcome visitor, placing me on good terms with the priests and enabling me to gather such information as I desired. One fine black-bearded priest was especially friendly, and would give me a nod of recognition in the streets, though at the temple it was not good form for him to appear to take notice of the visitors.

Many of the priests, especially the younger ones, are familiar with English, and several have written books telling what their creed really is. Some of this English is very quaint, yet I am not sure but it conveys a much clearer interpretation of the Sikh doctrine than do the laborer and learned treatises of the scholars who have undertaken to interpret it from the Sikh language into English. At any rate, the pamphlets which were placed in my possession

On account of my frequent visits and my inquiring disposition, a distinguished name was given me. One day at the temple the group, which included some of the priests, asked the English officer who was speaking in their own language what my nationality was. They knew I was not an Englishman. He said that I was from America. "A far distant sahib," said one of the Sikhs, and thereafter I was always known as the "far distant sahib," though my presence was very near. But the confusion of place with person did not prevent them from the knowledge that I came from a long way off, and perhaps on this account they were a little more anxious that I should have a correct idea of their creed.

The history of the Sikhs and their stand against the Mohammedan conquerors is easily told. The wonder is that, holding to the faith in one God, they did not amalgamate with the Mohammedans. If they had, possibly there would have been less of Hindu polytheism and idol worship today. But the Mohammedan came to India as conquerors and the refusal of the Sikhs to be vanquished [illegible] the failure of the amalgamation of creeds.

Their version of their own history is that they are, like the rest of the Hindus, of Aryan origin, and with the mass of Hindus they hold to the transmigration of souls until good deeds wash away all transgressions. They also cremate their dead. But they have none of the multitude of gods or idols and they recognize no caste.

The First Teacher.

The Sikhs date their creed from the latter part of the fifteenth century, when the first Guru or holy teacher appeared in the person of Nanak, the son of a shopkeeper near Lahore. He claimed the Granth, or sacred book, to be a revelation, and succeeding Gurus guarded it as such. The Sikhs did not become a distinctive religious commonwealth until the Mogul Emperor Aurangzig, in his desperate and futile efforts to unify all India as a Mohammedan country, tortured and murdered Tej Bahadur, the ninth Guru. The latter's son, Govind Singh, united the Sikhs into a military brotherhood, and—as one Sikh historian puts it, after that there were few converts on either side.

Symbols of the Sikh creed are in keeping with their martial instincts. These symbols are five, and in the Sikh language all begin with the letter K and are known as the kakkas. They are the long hair and full beard, the comb with a dagger blade, the short sword, the iron wristlet, and the short cotton drawers which distinguish them from the wearers of the loin cloth who comprise the great mass of the Indians. They also carry a quoit or iron ring with a sharp edge, and this when thrown is a most deadly weapon.

Argument for Vegetarians.

The Sikhs follow some of the Hindu customs as to the sacredness of animal life, and are not beefeaters, so that their physical strength might be cited as an argument for the vegetarians. However, they eat mutton and other meat. Their antipathy to [illegible] does not extend to alcohol, and after any one of the great celebrations a good many of them may be found in weary attitudes taking their rest along the marble causeway at the steps and even on the stairways of the temple.

The halo of Hindu means the dews of heaven or the divine elements of water. The legendary origin of the Pool of Immortality has various versions. The version which I like best is of the pious daughter of a wealthy and unnatural father, who, because of a passing displeasure, gave her in marriage to a man of distorted limbs and told her to support herself and her husband upon the grace of God. The girl, carrying the crippled husband in a basket on her head, reached the pool and left the basket under the shade of a wayside tree while she herself went to beg for alms in the neighboring village. The disciple saw two very black crows fall into the pool and come up as white as snow. Thereupon he leaped into the water and was rendered strong in limbs with all his physical faculties perfected. The returning wife did not at first believe that the man was her husband, but he convinced her and together they bore alms to the power of Amrit. Afterward the tank was dug and the foundation stones laid for the Golden Temple.

Services in the Temple.

Several times in visiting the temple I asked the nature of the services and was told wherein they were similar to Christian services. There is a morning and an evening prayer which embody the living faith in practice. Some of its precepts are contained in the Om Sandheia, or prayer book, of the Aryans. Here are extracts which reflect its aspirations:

May the all-pervading Divine Mother in her gracious energy, to gratify our inner craving and send down blessings all around us.

Principles and atoms were produced from the pregnant nature; then came out chaos, then energy or motion, then ocean. After the energy and the ocean came out the planetary motion. The Ruler of the Universe makes days and nights without effort.

The Maker formed, as before, the sun and moon, the luminous and opaque bodies, the firmament and the happy region.

All the objects of the world serve the purpose of flags to show Him, the Glorious Being and Maker of the World, the Vedas and the Sun of Life to all the creatures.

The Ever-takeful Eye exists pure from all eternity for the good of the land. May we see a hundred autumns, may we live a hundred autumns, may we hear a hundred autumns, may we speak a hundred autumns, may we be free a hundred autumns, and again so for a hundred autumns.

We bow to Thee, who are all joy, all happiness, the dispenser of ease and fulfiller of our righteous desires, all calm and all peace.

Regarded as a Delusion.

In doctrinal books of the Sikhs the central idea is that life is an emanation from a Divine Creator, the Supreme Being, God, Brahma, or Hari. The idea of the human soul existing apart from the Eternal Cause from which it is evolved, is regarded as a delusive fancy of infirm human imagination.

tained from the Japji or prayer book of the Sikhs. Here are some characteristic extracts:

Om is His true name. He is the Creator and All-pervading Being, devoid of fear and hate, unperishable, unborn and self-existent. He is attainable through the favor of a true spiritual guide only. Him thou worship, O inquirer.

He existed in the beginning. He existed before time began its existence. He does exist now and He shall be forever.

In the universe of truth dwells the immortal Lord. He sees His worshipers and showers His blessings upon them. There are worlds upon worlds and forms upon forms and they all move and act as the Supreme Being orders.

The doctrine may be said to be summarized in the concluding verse of the prayer book, which is as follows:

Air is the protector, water the procreator, and the great earth the mother of all sentient creatures. Day and night are the two nurses in whose lap the world sports. The merits and demerits of all shall be duly considered by the supreme Dispenser of Justice, and all shall depart their deserts sooner or later. Those who meditate sincerely on the holy name of the Lord, the same do away with pain and suffering when they throw off the mortal coil. Their souls glow with spiritual light, and through their instrumentality many fellow mortals obtain liberation.

There are several hundred priests to maintain the observances of all the precepts of the Sikh creed, and the ritual is regularly carried out at the various services every day in the year. The priests form an hereditary class, and the complaint is frequently made that they grow very worldly. The British officials, both civil and military, are not particularly concerned about this worldliness. What they try to find out in periods of ferment like the present one is whether the priests are in sympathy with the agitation.

FIRST NEGRO SCHOLARSHIP.

First of his race to win a Rhodes scholarship to Oxford, Alan LeRoy Locke, a negro of Philadelphia, will sail for England, September 21. Locke, who is but 21 years old, won the Pennsylvania appointment over four other students. He has a brilliant scholastic record, having won the Price Collier, Rebecca Perkins and Hemphill scholarships. He graduated with honors from the Philadelphia Central High school and School of Pedagogy in 1904, and has just completed his Harvard course. His selection was made in accordance with a clause of his will in which Cecil Rhodes specified that neither race nor color should bar a candidate.

TEETH AS SOUVENIRS.

A curio collector reports an unprecedented demand for false teeth.

"It is the teeth of famous personages deceased that are wanted," he says. "I don't know for sure what has started the boom in artificial teeth, but ever since I have been in this business I have had occasional requests from eccentric patrons for a set of Napoleonic teeth, but in the last few months inquiries have simply poured in concerning the teeth of men prominent in the last century. I am inclined to think that this craze for teeth has been stimulated by the report that Washington's

FIFTEEN YEARS OF ECZEMA

Affected Hands, Arms and Legs—Endured Terrible Itching and was Unable to Sleep—Would Tear the Bandages to Scratch the Skin—In less than One Week

CURED BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I had eczema nearly fifteen years. The affected parts were my hands, arms and legs. They were the worst in the winter time and were always itchy, and I could not keep from scratching them. I had to keep both hands bandaged all the time, and at night I would have to scratch through the bandages as the itching was so severe, and at times I would have to tear everything off my hands to scratch the skin. I could not rest or sleep. I had several physicians treat me, but they could not give me a permanent cure, nor even could they stop the itching. After using the Cuticura Soap, one box Cuticura Ointment and two bottles Cuticura Resolvent for about six days the itching had ceased, and now the sores have disappeared, and I never felt better in my life than I do now. Edward Worell, Band 30th, U. S. Infantry, Fort Crook, Nebraska."

The most torturing and disfiguring humors, eczemas, rashes, itchings, irritations, and inflammations of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair of infants, children, and adults, are instantly relieved and speedily cured by the Cuticura Remedies, when all else fails.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Pills (25c.) Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 13.—The Western Investment company, the largest leasing concern operating in the Cripple Creek district, is shipping about 1,500 tons per month from its different leases. It is expected that during the last half of the year the tonnage will be increased over that of the first six months. The company is shipping but a straight smelting grade of ore, and is operating on nearly a dozen different properties throughout the camp, principally on Bull and Raven hills.

The best producer under lease to the Western Investment company is, perhaps, the Specimen of the Stratton estate, located on Bull hill. About 18 or 20 cars of ore a month are shipped from this property, and the ore runs very close to two ounces in gold to the ton. Operations are conducted from the first and fifth levels. Other claims that are producing are the Wild Horse, John A. Logan, Morning Glory, Modoc and Trail. This company is reported to have made nearly $100,000 net last year, and the profits for 1907 will be nearly as good, with prospects that 1908 will be even better. This company is under the direct control, insofar as mining management is concerned, of Austin T. Holman, for a number of years superintendent of the famous Golden Cycle property. Mr. Holman is one of the best mining men in the state, and results indicate that his reputation is well earned.

REOPEN LITTLE GIANT MILL

Cyanide Plant Will Treat 100 Tons per Day, After Close Down of Several Months.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 13.—Charles B. Burch, general manager of the Little Giant cyanide mill, has arrived from Chicago and the plant will be started up after a close-down of several months. The mill is automatic throughout and is considered to be one of the most up-to-date and capable cyanide plants in the state. The mill has a capacity of 200 tons daily, but for the present not more than 100 tons will be put through the plant. It is the intention of Mr. Burch to handle ore on company account, which can be mined right at the mill, there being several large veins already opened up of low-grade ore, beside handling some custom ore. The fact that the mill is some three miles south of Cripple Creek in Pony gulch, makes it rather a hard proposition for the treatment of custom ore. However, it is planned to erect an aerial tramway for the conveyance of ore to the mill.

CONNECTS WITH MODOC MINE

Cresson Property, on Raven Hill, Has Much Development Work Done and Ore in Sight.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 13.—Richard Dodge, general manager of the Bull Hill Mining and Development company, operating on the Cresson property, on Raven hill, has made connections with the Modoc property. The Modoc just across the gulch, is now producing some exceptionally fine ore, and the company itself yesterday shipped out a car of ore that will run not less than six ounces in gold to the ton. This ore is being broken down on the 800-foot level, where a small streak carrying picture values has been exposed. The ore is a screening proposition. Simpson and company, operating on a level above, as well as Morrell and company, are shipping out about a car of ore a week that gives returns ranging from three to seven ounces in gold to the ton. All the ore is found in narrow but extremely rich streaks.

BIG STRIKE ON ISABELLA

Crowder and Young Open Same Shoot at 1,100 Feet as Sharpe and Company Have at 1,000 Feet.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 13.—A strike of great importance was made today by Crowder and Young, operating on the Isabella, on Bull hill. At 1,100 feet the men broke into the same shoot of ore from which Sharpe and company, at 1,000 feet, are breaking ore from 12 to 18 feet in width, with values averaging two ounces in gold to the ton at car lots. The Isabella company has the same shoot at 900 feet, and, while the dimensions of the new strike are not definitely known, it is believed that the shoot is increasing with depth and assays this evening give high values.

NEW SIRIKE ON TRILBY

Ore Encountered Runs 18 Ounces in Gold to Ton.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 13.—Another tremendous strike is reported to have been made during the past several days on the Trilby and Ben Harrison leases, claims by the Trilby Mines company. It is reported that seven feet of ore on the bottom level and in the Harrison claim has been encountered from which assays, taken clear across show 18-ounce values. If this ore holds out for a short time the Trilby will be one of the very best mines in the district. In fact, the mine, without the new strike, is doing remarkably well, and a splendid grade and a good tonnage is being steadily maintained.

For those leisurely summer hours—you can find no better comrade than

The NEW BROADWAY MAGAZINE For AUGUST

It is one of those chummy, entertaining numbers that will brighten your idle moments.

TRUE VACATION FICTION

predominates stories of the restful, refreshing sort. Notable among them are:

Georgia Woodthorpe's "The Giant Killers"—one of the best things this popular writer has done.

Broughton Brandenburg's delightfully tantalizing tale, "The Mystery of the Third Visitor."

Cyrus Townsend Brady's "The Cliff Dweller's Pot," that thrills you with its mingling of the real and the fantastic.

Oliver's "A Man in a Hurry," a genuine love story of the true Broadway, happy-hearted appeal.

Eleanor Hoyt Brainard's "Letters of a Debutante," delicious in naive girlishness, and proving a literary sensation.

Other stories are by Julia Truitt Bishop, Anna Alice Chapin, John Barton Oxford, Porter Emerson Browne, John Kendrick Bangs and others.

More of Those Compact Broadway Articles

Don't fail to read "August Belmont" in the August Broadway. It is one of those typical Broadway articles, showing a powerful public personality from a brand new standpoint.

"The Midsummer Madness of Society" tells the extravagances and eccentricities of the rich at Newport.

"Painters of Sea and Shore" is an article full of out-of-door beauty and movement, illustrated with reproductions from master canvases.

The August Broadway is filled with an array of the beautiful pictures that are making its art features worth the price alone.

BARGAIN IN 1920 ACRES, SUB-IRRIGATED, FARM LANDS

Just received a U. P. Contract from a friend of mine that represents 1,920 acres of land in Cheyenne County, Colorado, about 6 miles from the Union Pacific R. R. This is represented to me to be all good farming land, and as I know right where the land is located and have been over that country several times, I think it is exactly as represented.

Price on this land $5.00 per acre, all cash, less $1.40 per acre payable to the Union Pacific Land Co. in seven equal annual payments at 6 per cent interest. This land is a bargain, and as a matter of speculation, anyone buying this land can double their money inside of the next 12 months, I believe.

THE POWER OF PRAYER.

General Booth, the venerable head of the Salvation Army, was talking to a New York reporter.

"Are you saved?" he asked suddenly.

The young man flushed, stammered and hesitated.

"Well," said the general, "do not despair. There is a chance even for New York reporters."

Then, discussing prayer, General Booth told a story, a story with a moral.

"There was a young clergyman appointed to a small country town," he began, "and a short time after his arrival a horsy looking man in leggings stopped him on the street one day, bowed respectfully, and said in a tremulous voice:

"'If you please, sir, would you mind, next Sabbath, offering up a bit of a prayer for Milly Dean?'

"The minister, of course, assented. The man, whose look was worried and haggard, took leave gratefully. And on the next and the two following Sundays Milly Dean was prayed for from the pulpit."

FIGHTER FROM AWAY BACK.

Comparatively little is heard of Sir Arthur Wilson, V. C., but those who serve under him say he is without doubt, the finest tactician on the active list today. The [illegible] of his V. C. is most extraordinary.

During the Egyptian war he was leading a charge of the naval brigade against the dervishes; when he was half way through the enemy his sword broke, close up to the hilt. Nothing daunted by this, he threw the hilt away and went for the rest of them with his fists. All Wilsons in the service are nicknamed "Tug," so even the commander is generally spoken of as "Tug Wilson."

Some men are self-made, and it takes nine tailors to make other.

The Eloquence of Price

25 styles, $12.50 to $35.00

Price talks without speaking. Values are of mighty little use to anybody, but when you couple magnificent qualities with extremely low prices, you have an eloquence in price that is beyond words. This bears more weight when coupled with the sale of FURNITURE than any other article.

THE MATCHLESS

Mc. & H. Furniture

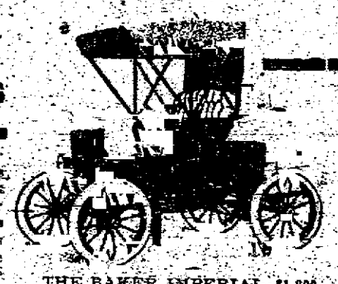
Baker Electrics



THE BAKER IMPERIAL, $1,200.

As a refinement of all that is notable in the construction of Electric Vehicles the Baker for 1907 stands pre-eminent. These wonderfully beautiful models fairly captivated the immense throngs attendant at both of the great automobile shows.

In every detail of construction—in every material part these cars are, admittedly—the highest form of Electric Vehicle achievement. In chaste and dignified designs, combining elegance with a proper regard for conventionality—in variety of models—in wealth of new and exclusive features, the Baker has more than maintained its rightful title, "The Aristocrat of Motordom."

THE QUEEN VICTORIA

Is rich and dignified in appearance. A more perfect carriage for town use has never been conceived. The Queen Victoria Body is interchangeable with the Runabout or Enclosed Coupe Body. The Chassis is the same and the change from one style of body to the other is affected with little effort, in a few moment's time.

Twelve other models.
